'Dynamite' That Scared Motorists Only 'Sand'

The laugh seems to be on all those motorists who had sabotage jitters when they saw seven boxes of dynamite sticks lying unguarded over last week-end at the side of the Malahat.

The boxes at mile 28 were lettered "C.I.L., Porcine Gelatin." The scores of red-wrapped sticks lying exposed to the sun looked like dynamite, but they were only sand, made up as dummy sticks, but not with the intention of scaring motorists.

If there was any dynamite left unguarded anywhere along the highway it didn't have anything to do with Dawson, Wade & Co., contractors for the big Malahat summit reconstruction job, Superintendent F. N. Mackay made clear.

"All our dynamite is under lock and key, under guard 24 hours a day," said Mr. Mackay. "Every stick is checked every day and a record kept right down to the last stick. Every stick has to be covered by a permit and must be accounted for to the government powder inspector. None of our dynamite is ever allowed to lie around loose. Those red-wrapped sticks in the dynamite cases motorists went panicky over were only dummies or tamping bags filled with sand."

SEATTLE (AP)—The largest fire in the Snoqualmie national forest in several years, which covered only 700 acres at daybreak but jumped to 2,000 acres by mid-forenoon, was raging near the headwaters of the Rapid River in Snohomish county, assistant forester F. E. Williamson said today.

Public Works Minister Leary confirmed Mr. Mackay's statement that the "dynamite" sticks at mile 28 were only sand sticks wrapped like dynamite and packed like dynamite in explosive boxes. "It is not true that dynamite was left about unguarded," said Mr. Leary. "We want the public to know that the contractors on this job are a responsible firm and abide by all the regulations regarding the handling of explosives. The cylindrical packages of sand in the red paper were made up and then laid out in empty powder boxes for convenience."

Hottest July Day

Mercury Reaches 95 After Light Shower

After bobbing up and down throughout the day the mercury finally touched 95 at 2:50 and set an all-time record for the month of July. The previous record was 92, on July 24, 1924.

Shortly after 1 it looked as though the heat wave had broken, as clouds rolled up from the southwest and great drops of rain fell. This quickly passed and the thermometer commenced the climb which led it to a new record.

Between 7:30 and 9 this morning a cool breeze swept in from the sea and everybody said, "Thank goodness, the heat's going."

But by noon a mass moan arose again, as it appeared there was to be no let-up in the unprecedented heat wave.

"It comes over me in waves," was the general theme. That was because of the breeze. At 7:30 the temperature was 74, at 9 it was 87, by 11:30 it had gone up to 88; at noon it was 92; by 1:30 it was 94. At 2:30 it was 95.

In the Times stereotyping room it was 104 at noon. Light clouds overcast the sun early this afternoon, as the humidity became greater. Light thunderstorm activity may be expected tonight.

Some noon temperatures in other parts of the province were: Duncan, 92; Kelowna, 91; Kamloops, 96; Cranbrook, 94; Vancouver, 82; Lillooet, 112.

SLEPT IN PARK

The Times photographer, back from Nanaimo, said people slept in the park and on the Court-house green last night. Many families moved into the basement for meals.

Meanwhile Port Renfrew and portions of the island's extreme southwestern tip had a thunder and lightning storm, with heavy showers.

Shawnigan Lake was the hottest spot on the island last night. Some people said the temperature went to 116. A number of residents came back to town, where at least, they said, they could breathe.

Two girls fainted at the Crystal Garden. Elderly people found the heat especially trying. The B.C. Electric has been forced to use its steam plants long in advance of the usual time. "We're conserving water power at Jordan River and using our steam plant at Brentwood, just in case," said A. T. Goward, vice-president. "Usually we don't operate Brentwood until September but we can take no chances even though it is a big expense to the company."

Gardeners, irked at the restrictions placed on water, but trying to understand and be tolerant, rose as early as 5 this morning and put sprinklers on their parched lawns, flowers and vegetables. At 9 they had to turn the water off until 8 this evening. "At this rate I'll be up until midnight—I can't let my garden dry up," said one man, as he watered in pyjamas and bathrobe. Victoria gardeners, however, were not so badly off as those in Vancouver. There a ban was put on garden hoses for 24 hours, starting at 6 p.m. today. In North Vancouver gardeners could water only four hours a day, between 6 a.m. and 8 a.m. and 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

It was so hot in the Parliament Buildings that linoleum tiles in corridors, put down without expansion joints, heaved upward as they expanded in the heat.

Dignity was thrown to the absent wind as substantial citizens walked along eating ice cream cones, coats discarded, hats on the backs of heads. Men in offices and stores took off ties and vests and rolled up their sleeves. Stevedores took off stockings. Mere man was at a loss to explain how sheerest silk could make anyone feel warm.

Were there any who dined indoors last night? Apartment house dwellers went with basket suppers to the beaches and parks.

Gardens were never so popular; people lay fanning themselves under trees; even the effort of eating was too much for some. For once father enjoyed a real rest from the woodpile. There were no fires in any house with gas or electricity. Preserving went on, to a certain extent. Berries can't be allowed to spoil, no matter how hot the weather. "There, that's done," said more than one panting housewife, as she collapsed in a chair. "Some one else has got to get the supper. I'm through."

Despite the sizzling sun, it was not quite hot enough to fry an egg on the pavement. An enthusiastic young Times reporter tried it. Even the lid of a man-hole cover was not hot enough, so it could have been worse. The possibilities of success on the top of an automobile were considered, but no one seemed to like the idea of a half-fried egg trickling down. (Additional weather stories on page 13.)

Germans Say 9,000,000 Fighting

Enormous Forces Battle Fiercely for Smolensk

Canadian and Associated Press
A Reuter news agency dispatch received in London from Moscow tonight said Smolensk, on the road to Moscow and 230 miles southwest of the Soviet capital, still was in Russian hands this morning.

Earlier today DNB, German news and propaganda agency, had claimed the Nazis had captured Smolensk.

A fierce all-night battle in which Germans and Russians contended fiercely for mastery of the road to Leningrad, was reported by the Soviet information bureau today.

From dusk to dawn the see-saw battle raged in the Pskov-Porkhov area 150 miles southwest of Leningrad, the communique said. There was no indication which side was getting the upper hand.

But in fighting yesterday, an earlier communique had reported, the German advance reached to the region of Smolensk, important bomb-battered town, 90 miles east of Vitebsk on the Dnieper, where central front operations last had been reported.

Intense Contest On Pskov Front

There was no mention of Smolensk in the latest Russian communique, but rather a declaration that the only sector of major activity overnight was the Pskov-Porkhov area, which led to a belief in some quarters that the Germans were being held there.

While admitting this setback, the Russians claimed they had dealt a smashing blow to the Germans farther south along the Dnieper, driving them back pell mell 30 miles from their bridgeheads to the Bobruisk area and cutting off and destroying an entire tank battalion in the retreat. These battles came to a halt at nightfall, however, and the Soviet command declared no important changes in the positions of troops and no major operations took place during the night, except around Pskov and Porkhov.

Germans Say Chisinau Taken

The German high command claimed Chisinau, capital of Bessarabia on the southern wing of the front, had been captured by German and Rumanian forces. The communique followed earlier claims that German "speed troops" had advanced on the central and northern sectors after mopping up pockets of Russian resistance delaying their drives toward Moscow and Leningrad.

A short but bitter fight was said to have preceded Chisinau's fall, and the Germans claimed numerous prisoners taken and equipment destroyed or seized.

The German high command's communique today said:

"Soviet leadership, throwing last reserves into battle, tried to stem the onslaught of German armed forces and their Allies. On the entire east front a tremendous struggle for a decision is being waged."

"Roughly 9,000,000 soldiers are facing each other here in a struggle, the extent of which surpasses all historic conceptions. Great successes are in the making."

Pressure on Left Of Russians Eases

Although the Germans appeared to be making a major effort on the Pskov-Porkhov front, the Red army's right flank, in the sixth day of their second sustained offensive, pressure on the Russian's left flank, in the Novograd-Volynski area, has been relaxed for several days.

Weather which had favored the blitzkrieg through the more than three weeks of the campaign began to turn against the Germans. Rain clouds gathered over the hot, dry fields after a period of clear skies.

Broadcasts Encourage Russians

Another boost for Russian morale was being given by special broadcasts on the front line radio, among them one by Marshal Semeon Budenny, commander of the Red army's southern wing, who called on his men yesterday to strike the Germans "a crushing blow."

The Red air fleet attacked German landing fields, motor troops and tank outfits during the night, the Russians said. For the Germans, DNB claimed the capture also of Polotsk, a point to the rear which, it said, was passed up in the first rushes to the east and entered by later encirclement. Polotsk, a railroad centre on the Dvina River northwest of Vitebsk, was said by Germans to have considerable military importance.

Some confusion over progress claimed for the Nazi advance, however, was caused by varying interpretations placed on a dispatch by DNB, telling of a fierce battle in which several thousand Russians were claimed captured in a forest near Gorodische.

There are several towns in Russia by that name, but spokesmen claimed the dispatch referred to the one near Rzhev on the Riga-Moscow railway, 110 miles from the Russian capital.

(Maps show a Pogoreloe-Gorodische in the location referred to by the German spokesman and three other towns southwest or northwest of Moscow named simply Gorodische. One is 70 miles southwest of Minsk, and the other two are in the Leningrad sector—one 150 miles southwest of the city on Lake Peipus and the other 50 miles southwest of Novogorod, which German troops previously have been reported approaching. The nearest of these to Moscow is more than 325 miles distant.)

LONDON (CP)—Harry Hopkins, supervisor of the United States lease-lend program, arrived in London today, visited Prime Minister Churchill almost immediately and then attended a meeting of the cabinet. An authoritative announcement said Mr. Hopkins came to England in one of a fleet of U.S.-built bombers, all of which made the trip safely.

Bull Fight Off

West Vancouver will run afoul of the Criminal Code if it attempts to stage a bull-fight in connection with its Narvaez Spanish pageant next month, provincial police said this morning.

Section 542, para. (d) of the code sets a penalty of $500 or one year for those who promote bull-fights as well as cock-fights and bear-baiting, police said.

New Gas Rules Effective Monday

OTTAWA (CP)—The restricted hours of gasoline sale in Canada and the ban on the use of credit cards and charge accounts in the purchasing of gasoline, will come into effect next Monday, it was shown today in an order published in an extra edition of the Canada Gazette. (Previously it was indicated the order might be effective Saturday.)

The new regulations which call for closing of gasoline service stations from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. on week days and from 7 p.m. Saturday to 7 a.m. Mondays were made known Tuesday by Oil Controller G. R. Cottrell.

7 TO 7 IN B.C.

The restricted hours of sale will be standard or daylight saving time, whichever prevails in the locality where the filling station is located. (This will mean B.C. hours are 7 to 7.)

This prohibition applies to the sale of gasoline and crank-case oil for use in the operation of motor cars (tractors excepted), and for motorboats or launches (except those used solely and exclusively for commercial or industrial purposes.)

The order also provides that tank wagon prices for motor fuel sold to consumers shall not be greater nor less than the prices charged retail dealers, effective on and after August 1, 1941, and the same provision is made for lubricating oils.

Another restrictive order applicable to the trade is that, effective today, dealers may not be supplied by a greater number of distributors than were supplying such dealers this date.

2,300 Arrive in Convoy

Troops set up a Bren gun, theoretically as a defence against raiding aircraft. Another gun was set up in shrubbery on the opposite side of the road.

Pte. J. Bevan of Hamilton takes care in winding his putties. He and other soldiers had a breakfast of porridge, coffee, bread and jam.

A temporary tent down on Macaulay Plains received its occupants today—2,300 troops of the 13th Infantry Brigade transported by army lorry from Nanaimo Military Camp.

Tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday the troops will carry out exercises in Victoria, and on Monday they will start back to Nanaimo, this time by foot.

The tent town at Macaulay was set up yesterday by an advance party of 150, in preparation for today's peaceful invasion by the Ontario troops, the largest manoeuvre of its type ever staged in British Columbia.

Long before most civilians were up, even before some had gone to bed, soldiers of the Lincoln and Welland regiment were hustled from their cots at Nanaimo to prepare for the day's journey. The Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and the Dufferin and Haldimand Rifles were wakened successively to pack their kits and await their turn to board lorries for Victoria.

HUNDRED TRUCKS

The movement was made in nearly 100 trucks. Each 15-hundredweight truck carried eight men and each 30-hundredweight truck, 12 men. The trucks moved in groups of 24 or 25, each group spaced half an hour from the next.

The Lincoln and Welland regiment and half the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders traveled to Victoria in the first four-group convoy of the day. The trucks then returned to Nanaimo and picked up the second half of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and the Dufferin and Haldimand Rifles.

Each truck was scheduled to travel 300 miles during the day. The first trip to Victoria was made almost without incident. One motorcycle accompanying the convoy developed ignition trouble and another had a flat tire. The trucks had no mishaps. One truck bringing dunnage to Victoria yesterday, however, turned over at the junction of the Island Highway and the Shawnigan Lake cut-off. No serious damage was done and the truck was quickly righted.

The moon still was bright in the sky when the first troops were routed from their beds at Nanaimo Camp, fed a hearty breakfast and ordered to pack their kits for the trip. Although they had been confined to barracks yesterday evening, many had difficulty in rubbing the sleep from their eyes and deserting their warm cots.

TOO HOT TO SLEEP

Like a Times photographer and correspondent who made the trip to Nanaimo especially to ride in the convoy, the troops had been unable to sleep until a late hour because of the intense heat.

Promptly at 3.45 a.m., the first group of trucks growled into line on the road and the soldiers marched from barracks and climbed aboard. At 4, Lieut. P. W. Winchester, heading A group, signaled the group to move off and the trucks started toward Victoria.

"We're right on time," shouted an excited soldier. "A miracle." Group B immediately moved onto the road from the field where all the trucks had been parked yesterday evening, picked up its cargo of sleepy soldiers, and at the end of a half-hour interval, also headed for Victoria.

This group and the two that followed were headed respectively by Lieutenants W. A. Duncan, S. B. McCordick and Hugh Ryerson. In charge of the whole movement was Major C. E. Tuck, brigade major, assisted by Major W. H. Bruce, Capt. I. E. Millard, transport officer, and H. J. Furringer, liaison officer.

Brigadier O. Milton Martin, officer commanding the brigade and commandant of Nanaimo Military Camp, accompanied the troops to Victoria.

Major C. E. Tuck, brigade major, right, and H. J. Furringer, liaison officer, having breakfast at 2.45 at Nanaimo. Major Tuck, from Hamilton was in charge of the movement. Mr. Furringer is from Toronto.

Men of the 13th Infantry Brigade, in a 3-ton army truck. The troops will take part in a ceremonial drill tomorrow at Beacon Hill Park.

Forty motorcycles accompanied the trucks on the journey. Three headed each group of lorries, one was stationed between each block of five lorries, and two brought up the rear of each group.

As the groups came to rail or road intersections, two motorcycle-clists at the head stopped to block any traffic that might interfere with the group. At the same time, these motorcycle-clists were replaced by the two from the rear.

Expecting another scorching day, most of the motorcycle-clists wore only shirts and shorts. Until surprise, they suffered accordingly from cold.

"This is the damndest country," said one motorcycle-clist from the Niagara Peninsula. "First we roast and then we freeze."

Two others took advantage of the only stop en route to Macaulay Plains to engage each other in gentle fistfights. Even that exercise failed, however, to keep them warm.

Troops traveling in the trucks also found the early morning journey chilly, but spread blankets over their bare knees. Many were too sleepy to care whether they were warm or cold, and sat nodding drowsily as the lorries rumbled over the highway.

Each group of trucks stopped for a short time 40 miles from Nanaimo. Troops were ordered out of the trucks to the roadside and set up their Bren guns in simulated defence against air attack. The brief stop gave the soldiers an opportunity to stretch their legs and at the same time to practice making themselves inconspicuous as they would in a combat zone. The troops were obliged to wear their steel helmets and carry rifles on leaving the lorries.

"B" section of the first convoy, in which the Times representatives rode, made an unscheduled stop north of Duncan, when it found itself catching up with "A" section. During the unscheduled stop, however, troops were not permitted to leave the trucks.

Little traffic was encountered as the army trucks traveled down the highway during the early morning. Provincial and army police officers were on duty at important intersections to guide traffic later in the day.

Trucks in the convoy kept from 50 to 100 yards apart. In this order, officers explained, the convoy would be a difficult target for bombing or machine-gunning planes. Officers in charge of the movement sought to have the convoy move through 20 miles each hour, involving actual speeds at the head of each column of as much as 30 miles per hour. Officers said that trucks in the rear might be obliged to crawl as the line expanded and contracted. "This job is a tough one," the driver of the first car in a convoy confided. "All the trucks base their speed and their spacing on this one. If we just miss a gear on a hill, we can mess up the whole thing."

The troops, all from Ontario, in some instances were traveling to Victoria for the first time.

"At last," said one, as he debused at Macaulay Plains and looked out across the Straits, "at last we really reach the west coast."

R.A.F. Sinks German Ships

LONDON (CP)—Within the past 24 hours British bombers have put out of action a score of Axis ships and struck smashing blows at Hamburg and other industrial areas of the German Reich.

The air ministry issued a communique today which said: "It now is possible to tell in greater detail the story of the daylight attack carried out yesterday by Blenheims of the bomber command."

"Air reconnaissance recently discovered a large concentration of shipping at Rotterdam, including many vessels of 4,000 tons and upwards. It is from this port that enemy garrisons in occupied territories are largely supplied."

"A strong force of Blenheims was therefore dispatched. It crossed the Dutch coast soon after 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the 16th of July, flying in two waves. The Dutch population, first in the fields and then in the streets of a city, waved welcome to the Blenheims as they swept into the attack mast high."

BIG LINER RUINED

"The destruction caused to the enemy's ships was very great. The following main damage was caused:

"Eleven ships varying in tonnage between 1,000 and 2,000 tons were hit and left smoking. The Rotterdam Lloyd liner Baloran, a motor vessel of 17,000 tons, was hit by several bombs, one falling between the funnels. Debris from the ship was thrown high into the air."

"Two ships each of 4,000 tons exploded, the flames from one of them towering above the attacking aircraft. A smaller vessel of the same kind also was hit amidships and exploded."

"In all, 17 ships of an estimated tonnage of between 90,000 and 100,000 have been put out of action either permanently or for a long time to come."

"Five more ships totaling between 40,000 and 45,000 tons were severely damaged."

BUILDINGS BURNED

"On land two warehouses and a factory were left burning fiercely."

"In approaching their target, the Blenheims flew over Dutch territory in V formations."

"Heavy opposition was encountered from ground defences and four of our aircraft are missing. Two of these had completed their attack and scored direct hits on ships before being shot down."

The assault on Hamburg and other areas in northwestern Germany was carried out last night in a continuation of the non-stop offensive against the Reich begun more than a month ago. Bad weather handicapped the raiders, but they succeeded in starting many fires and scored numerous direct hits on their targets.

The night raid cost the R.A.F. three planes.

In addition to smashing at Northwestern Germany during the night the R.A.F. also struck again at the Nazi-occupied French coast, damaging docks and warehouses at oil-bombed Boulogne.

During the night a 6,000-ton German tanker was torpedoed by British aircraft and left sinking in the channel. Two other ships, of about 2,000 tons each were bombed off the west coast of France and another ship of 3,000 tons was left sinking off the Norwegian coast.

Urges Lindbergh Return Medal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes declared today he believed that if Charles A. Lindbergh "were an upstanding American" he would have turned back his German decoration "long ago, regardless of how, when or where he got it."

The Interior Department chief made his statement at a press conference after being informed Lindbergh had written President Roosevelt suggesting an apology by Ickes for his criticism of Lindbergh's position in the present international situation.

"I've never said, at any time that he is connected with the interests of a foreign government," Ickes said. "I have said, however, that he has gone about the country preaching appeasement and disunity which is in the interest of a foreign government—namely, Germany."

When handed a paper quoting from Lindbergh's letter to the President, Ickes read it aloud in a plaintive voice, and then commented "this doesn't sound like an expression from a knight of the German Eagle."

Asked if he would apologize to the flier, in the event he returned the German decoration, the secretary replied: "I would think a lot more of him."

Ralston Announces Recruiting Success

Army Needs 7,000 Men Each Month

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Ralston says the Canadian army needs 7,000 men a month for replacements and reinforcements.

"Men are constantly being discharged and their places have to be filled," he said in a radio address last night. "Men will be needed to keep the army up to strength and to provide reinforcements. They will be needed to complete new units and they will be needed to provide increases in existing units."

"Those who are still hesitating and debating can know the overwhelming sense of relief which men experience when they enlist for active service."

"Their minds are at ease, their decision is made and their doubts are left behind."

"Fellow Canadians," he said, "I have tried to express a very sincere 'thank you' for your part in the chapter (the recruiting campaign) just finished. Canada asks you now just as sincerely to keep right on to the end of the book."

Special Call More Than Met

In announcing success of the recent campaign Ralston said: "The special call has been met, and more than met."

"The success is due to fine teamwork all over the Dominion between loyal hard-working citizens both in official positions and in private life, the veterans of the first Great War, the officers and other ranks of the Canadian army, and the personnel associated with the Department of National Defence."

Total Enlistment In Army 34,625

At a press conference during the afternoon Col. Ralston said the recruiting campaign which opened May 12 produced 34,625 active army enlistments up to Tuesday, to meet an original call for about 32,000 men.

He said there had been about 48,000 volunteers for active army service, but many had to be rejected because of the stiff physical requirements.

In addition to this report on recruiting Col. Ralston announced:

1. Requisition will be made shortly to the National War Service Department for 1,500 women for the first unit of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, an auxiliary organization.

2. Approximately 90,000 men are now in the three services overseas and the active army in Canada includes about 215,000 men.

3. Between 300 and 400 members of the 5th (Armored) Canadian Division are being sent to the United States for special training.

4. A small group of the Veterans' Guard is being sent to the United Kingdom for service at Canadian military headquarters.

5. Consideration is being given to provision of special badges for young Canadians who have tried to join the army and have been rejected for medical reasons.

British Columbia Has Lowest Figure

Three military districts failed to fill the recruiting quotas assigned to them, Col. Ralston said. These were M.D. No. 1, with headquarters in London, Ont.; M.D. No. 4, with headquarters at Montreal, and M.D. No. 11, covering British Columbia and the Yukon, with headquarters in Victoria.

New Brunswick led the districts, recruiting 2,477 men for a quota of 1,478, making 168 per cent of the objective.

British Columbia and the Yukon were lowest, enlisting 1,900 men for a quota of 3,105, only 61 per cent of the quota.

Col. Ralston said he took particular satisfaction in the fact that 90 per cent of the new recruits were from civilian life, and 10 per cent only represented by volunteers from the compulsory training camps.

While the 34,625 men were being enlisted in the active army, Royal Canadian Air Force enlistments numbered more than 12,000 and the Royal Canadian Navy 3,500, bringing to well over 60,000 the number volunteering for the three services during that period. He did not have figures for rejections in the air force and navy.

5 at Funeral Hurt By Lightning

TORONTO (CP) — A bolt of lightning struck in the midst of a funeral party in Prospect Cemetery during a severe lightning storm here yesterday, causing injuries to seven members of the party. Five of them were removed to a hospital and two others were treated at a nearby clinic.

F. Ray Porter, undertaker, was confined to his home with a paralyzed arm, and his son, Ray Porter, suffered shock.

Air Raids Wipe Out Entire Family

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Word of the last of the series of tragic accidents to members of his family in England has reached Capt. G. W. Marsden of the Royal Canadian Engineers here with the death of his youngest brother in an enemy bombing attack last Wednesday.

Capt. Marsden is the sole remaining member of his family, six of whom have been killed in enemy raids. His parents were killed February in a bombing attack, and his elder brother and two sisters in May.

6 Persons Hurt In Strike Clash

BENDIX, N.J. (AP) — At least six persons were injured today when police clashed with several hundred men and women who stoned automobiles and prevented day-shift workers from entering the plant of Air Associates Inc.

Police used tear gas and fired revolvers into the air to disperse a throng that closed in on a bus carrying 35 plant workers. Automobiles were drawn up to block the only road into the plant and left there when the crowd retreated several hundred yards across tracks of the New York and New Jersey Railroad.

SEEK TO CHECK YOUTH CRIMES

By DON TAIT

LONDON (AP) — More than half the crimes in wartime Britain are attributed to boys.

To combat this wave of youthful crime the Board of Education is trying to divert the youngsters' enthusiasm into channels that would help the war effort, through the new Youth Service Corps.

In the first year of war, the board disclosed, the number of children under 14 convicted of offences was 41 per cent higher than in the previous year. The increase for the age group of 14 to 17 years was given as 22 per cent.

This year more boys have been convicted of housebreaking, looting and theft than the courts have been able to dispose of.

So far just 50,000 boys and girls of 14 to 19 have joined the service corps. The government hopes to get at least 2,000,000 of the 3,000,000 boys and girls in Britain on the job.

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Rose Cliff, white marble mansion, which reputedly cost $2,000,000 when it was built for the late Mrs. Herman Oelrichs by Architect Stanford White in 1902, was sold at auction yesterday for $21,000, about a seventh of the assessed valuation. It was knocked down to Mrs. Anita Niesen of New York.

Lindbergh Asks Ickes Apologize

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh today advised President Roosevelt that he had no connection with any foreign government, that he had received a German decoration while serving the United States embassy, and declared he had a right to an apology from Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes for certain "statements and implications."

Saying he wrote as an American citizen, Lindbergh, who recently resigned as colonel in the U.S. Air Corps Reserve, wrote: "For many months, and on numerous occasions, your Secretary of the Interior has implied in public meetings that I am connected with the interests of a foreign government, and he has specifically criticized me for accepting a decoration from the German government in 1938."

"Mr. President, I willingly open my files to your investigation. I will willingly appear in person before any committee you appoint, and there is no question regarding my activities now, or at any time in the past, that I will not be glad to answer."

"Mr. President, I willingly open my files to your investigation. I will willingly appear in person before any committee you appoint, and there is no question regarding my activities now, or at any time in the past, that I will not be glad to answer."

NOT COMMUNICATING

Lindbergh said in his letter made public from his home at Lloyd Neck, Huntington, N.Y.:

"Mr. President, I give you my word that I have no connection with any foreign government. I have had no communication, directly or indirectly, with anyone in Germany or Italy since I was last in Europe in the spring of 1939. Prior to that time my activities were well known to your embassies in the countries where I lived and traveled. I always kept in a close contact with your embassies and your military attaches, as the records in your State Department and War Department will show."

"Mr. President, I willingly open my files to your investigation. I will willingly appear in person before any committee you appoint, and there is no question regarding my activities now, or at any time in the past, that I will not be glad to answer."

EUROPEAN CROP SHORTAGE SEEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reports from United States consular and diplomatic representatives indicate, agriculture department officials said today, that European crop production will be limited by such factors as reduced fertilizer supply, unfavorable weather conditions last winter and spring, and a general shortage of farm workers.

Officials explained, however, that there is little information available on which to make estimates of production. Because of the war, most countries have suspended their crop-reporting activities. In others, censorship prevents publication of any estimates that might be made.

Prospects indicate this year's European wheat crop will be larger than the small crop of about 1,350,000,000 bushels produced last year, but still below the 1931-1940 average of 1,573,000,000 bushels.

Over most of Europe, the grain crops have been late due to continued cool weather during most of April and May. Moisture supplies were said to be mostly ample or excessive except in Scandinavia.

Small Wheat Crop In Australia

CANBERRA (AP) — Government quarters announced here Australia's last wheat crop totaled 83,200,000 bushels, which, owing to an unusually dry season, was the lowest since 1929-1930 and means the government will have to extend grants of $27,500,000 ($9,845,000) together with a loan of $1,000,000 ($3,580,000) to growers. Despite small production, it is pointed out that marketing problems, which otherwise would have been acute, are thereby solved.

In the previous season Australia enjoyed a record harvest of 210,277,000 bushels of wheat, leaving a large carry-over in face of a shipping shortage.

The Australian wheat board considers the present wheat position satisfactory as Australia now has 47,000,000 bushels yet unsold as against 31,000,000 bushels consumed within Australia annually, leaving a carry-over this year of 16,000,000 bushels, which is far below normal.

Von Papen Tries Again

GERMANY WOULD LIKE TO KNOW from Turkey how the Turkish government would regard a proposal for the passage of German troops and war supplies through that country to the Soviet Caucasus if Nazi legions should be able to establish themselves in that part of the world, say, by the end of September. Willy Nazi Ambassador Franz von Papen has been entrusted with this "sounding out" process; but the men of Ankara are reported to be regarding the suggestion as somewhat premature. It is a proposal which nevertheless will be worth bearing in mind.

The German high command has its eye on the Isthmus between the Black Sea and the Caspian; it is evidently nervous lest Nazi occupation of Baku would be a somewhat empty triumph if such an invading army's supply lines were not adequately secured and improved. British political and military master strokes in Iraq and Syria, of course, have immensely improved Turkey's strategic position. This is by no means lost on the men of Berlin—who, with tongue in cheek, recall shipments of German armaments to Iran through Turkey during the last four years and cite the fact as a precedent. This is a plain revelation of concern by the Nazi high command.

What is also clearly worrying Berlin is the fact that when British and Imperial troops landed in force at Basra last April they laid the foundation for two of the bitterest political and strategic defeats schemes since the beginning of the war. Although this movement had for its primary object the suppression of the revolt fomented by Quisling Rashid Ali in Iraq, the behaviour of the Vichy government already had dictated a course that would, at least, force an issue in Syria if that French-mandated territory continued to remain a thorn in the side of British strategy in the eastern Mediterranean. With both these areas now a part of Allied defence in the Near and Middle East, however, Turkey's virtually complete isolation is a condition of the past. Not that the Ankara government is under any delusion about the prospects of its country being spared involvement in the Battle of the Eastern Mediterranean, but the vastly-altered strategic position it now enjoys naturally contributes to the insecurity of the Nazi southern flank as the conflict with the Soviet Union proceeds.

By this change, moreover, the government of Iran must be impressed; and as order is restored and the promise of political independence for Syria is implemented by practical policy, the former Persian oil state will be much less likely to succumb to Berlin's blandishments than it was, for instance, three months ago. Turkey, too, will now be able to obtain the necessary mechanical equipment, the lack of which discouraged her from taking a more spirited stand toward the fulfillment of the obligations into which she entered as an ally of Britain 21 months ago. American shipments—"a ship a day"—to the Red Sea area, not forgetting India's greatly accelerated output of war supplies, likewise must be added to the Reich's worries as she presses her latest manoeuvre at Ankara.

'V' for Victory

J. B. PRIESTLEY AND THE BBC ARE supplying the Hitler-enraged peoples of Europe with a sign, a symbol of the anti-Nazi unity which they dare not express in the presence of their conquerors. It is the letter "V", standing for victory.

From now on when the sun rises over the occupied zones, the German army of occupation can expect to find an increasing number of "V's" chalked or scratched on buildings and sidewalks. The Germans will know that each mark represents the defiance of a waiting anti-Nazi soldier.

The letter has many practical advantages. Two men, running at full speed in opposite directions, can draw a huge "V" on a wall by each making one diagonal stroke. The fascist salutes can easily be converted into the sign of opposition by merely separating two fingers. At 5 o'clock, when the hour hand points to the Roman numeral "V", the secret opposition declares itself by turning towards the village clock.

In International Morse code the letter is represented by three short and one long tap, in the rhythm of the first theme in Beethoven's Fifth Symphony. The BBC recommends it for knocking on doors, and as a greeting, to be stamped out by people in public places when a Nazi officer appears, or tinkled on glasses or crockery in restaurants.

The letter "V" will become the scourge of every Quisling and Gauleiter. Its constant repetition will be unnerving and in the end symbolize their overthrow.

Another possibility of these gasless Sundays is the bootlegger who might whisper: "How about a gallon of high-test stuff, just off a Japanese boat?"

What Will Japan Do?

WHETHER THE NEW GOVERNMENT which Premier Prince Fumimaro Kono had been commanded by the Japanese Emperor to form will result in much change in the country's foreign policy, or whether it will consider its predecessor's acts and commitments as out of date in view of the changing world situation—and, as such, not binding—will not be clear until its personnel has been decided upon and its program announced. Of speculation there is abundance. One school of thought is inclined to believe that some move will be made to implement Nippon's obligations under the Axis military convention of last fall. Another rather favors the idea that the obvious conflict of the tripartite agreement with Germany and Italy with Tokyo's recent neutrality pact with the Soviet Union will provide an easy way out for the new government to assume a "wait-and-see" role. And there is a less vocal body of opinion which still clings to the view that another diplomatic surprise is in the making—that Japan is ready to cut loose from the Axis if there is any likelihood of a fair deal for her in the Orient as far as the China "incident" is concerned. In this regard, of course, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's resolute determination to fight on to victory will remain the controlling factor.

What is abundantly clear, however, is that neither Great Britain nor the United States will stand idly by while Japan drives into any territory in the South Pacific that might jeopardize their interests and threaten their security. In this resolve, of course, the Netherlands East Indies must be taken into account. Japan may also have realized by this time that she lost her opportunity when she failed to go south in force six months ago. Since then Singapore has been completely transformed and is ready for anything Nippon may feel inclined to stage. What Britain and the United States would do if a "token" landing of Japanese troops in French Indo-China were undertaken by a new Kono government is a matter of conjecture. There is then the possibility of a stroke against Russia's Siberian provinces. Here again the statesmen of Tokyo are not unmindful of what a Soviet Union bombing force could do to the Japanese capital and other large cities of the Island Kingdom if Stalin were to give the order. Such an attack would not only paralyze industry and deal a shattering blow to wavering Japanese morale; it might conceivably encourage China's military genius to launch the all-out offensive for which he has been preparing. The early future, however, will decide this and other speculations.

Spare the Forests

EARLY IN THE FALL, AFTER THE HOT and dry summer has passed into meteorological history, the Forest branch of the provincial Department of Lands usually issues a statement informing the people of British Columbia how much of their timber wealth has been destroyed by fire. While this is part of official routine, information readily available as a result of a careful checking system, the owners of this natural wealth—the taxpayers of the province—learn how much of such destruction might be avoided if all those who go into or near the wooded areas would exercise normal care with matches, cigar and cigarette butts, camp fires, and so on. Every year the same sorry story has to be told; an instant's thoughtlessness quickly removes Nature's work of a hundred years. Thousands of dollars are taken annually from the public exchequer for publicity purposes, to drive home the need for caution in the forests, but in spite of all these exhortations there is an element which behaves in the great outdoors as it never would behave in the privacy of its own residence. These hot days, therefore, should remind everybody that natural fire hazards are dangerous enough without adding to them by displays of human carelessness.

THE EAST OPPOSES

From Bridge River News

Very swiftly the tide of war sweeps towards the North Pacific.

Those who have opposed the building of the Alaska Highway through British Columbia did not realize that they were playing the German-Nippon game.

Those who blocked the building of the Terrace-Prince Rupert highway didn't realize that they were helping to lay Prince Rupert and our garrisons along this coast in that area at the mercy of a Pacific invader.

Those who opposed the building of a secondary road to interior Canada by the Hope-Princeton route were actually aiding and abetting the enemy, but probably did so because of ignorance or lack of interest in the developments in the Pacific.

There are fifth-columnists, Quislings and Raschid Alis right here in Canada and the United States. Some of them are quite vocal.

They oppose such highway development. They take up arms against our iron and steel industry at the coast. They oppose Turner Valley oil development. They assail the British Columbia government for prospecting for oil here in the interior.

Toronto and Montreal are full of men who have stubbornly fought every project that was ever brought forward for strengthening the Pacific coastline northward and making the North Pacific a bristling fortress against the German-Nipponese Alliance.

DOG DAYS, ALAS

THESE USED TO BE Dog Days. When I was a young man in the newspaper business, it was difficult to fill the paper at this season. The world was at the beach or the lake. Nothing happened and news editors were at their wits' end to find a large headline. Many a large headline covered a very small story.

But what a pleasant time it was, looking back on it in retrospect. How sweet it would be to open the paper tonight and find an eight-column headline announcing that some poor man had drowned from a canoe, or that a picnic party had been poisoned by bad meat in the sandwiches! Those were great tragedies 10 years ago. Now, who cares? Thousands of men die daily, nations crumble, and one of the human family's great tragedies can sometimes only get a few lines on an inside page.

We used to complain about the Dog Days. People used to think the papers very dull and wondered why nothing ever happened. Now what would we give tonight for a dull paper and no news. What a wonderful feeling it would be, not to be waiting for the next radio broadcast, and the next newspaper. What a pleasure to go to bed knowing that the world would be unchanged in the morning, wondering only how many tourists would come to town and who would win the provincial election!

LOGIC

STILL, THE MENTAL HABITS of the Dog Days die hard. You can perceive it in the columns which carry invaluable letters to the editor. Just give them half a chance, and the Dog Days come rushing out again with a loud sound of barking, an occasional wagging of tails and some snarls. Thus, a casual mention of Darwin in this department (which never touches anything serious) unleashes a vast kennel of ideas until all sense was drowned in the howls.

The latest bark comes from a writer who asserts that I had no information to defend by views on Evolution. As he entirely misstates my views, it doesn't matter much, but in point of fact, I had so much information that I didn't know what to do with it. I was overwhelmed with information from all over town: Good people wrote me long screeds and quoted innumerable scientific authorities to denounce Darwin's theory, but generally believing in Evolution. I thought the thing hardly worth all this trouble. You never convince anyone anyway, and a mere recital of scientific names adds nothing to your own opinions; especially as I can't understand what the scientists mean, while the scientists certainly cannot understand what the other fellows mean.

But the writer in question achieved a fine pinnacle of logic when he denounced my opinions against the Karl Marx idea because the Russians are doing well in the war and dying bravely. Because the Russians will die for their country, therefore Marxian Socialism is sound, and private capitalism is unsound. And this, though they do not have Marxian Socialism in Russia, nor do we have private capitalism here. On the same ground you could argue that National Socialism in Germany is sound because the Germans die bravely for their country and Hitler must be right because he wins so many wars.

It's the Dog Days.

DANGER SIGNALS

IN THE OLD-FASHIONED Dog Days we had never heard of the price structure, of inflation, and the wage level. We went to the ball game. Unhappily, we shall hear much more of these things before the present summer is over. All unsuspecting, we are now on the toboggan of inflation. True, we haven't slipped very far, but the winter is coming, when tobogganing will be better and faster. If we don't watch out, we shall start to slide fast by autumn, with the first frost.

Up to now everything has been easy enough, with idle labor and idle machines to make more goods. Now our idle labor is at work, we have little more than we can use and, on the other hand, we shall have to take more and more of it out of production of consumable goods and use it to produce unconsumable war materials. We are going to have less goods for our own use in this country, if we are going to equip our armies and defend ourselves, and the fact that this column has repeated this prediction again and again will not make it untrue.

Everybody has said this idea was absurd. All my friends have called me a croaker. Nobody has believed that our wartime boom has to end, with a positive reduction in our standard of living. All right, just watch the next 12 months. In the next Dog Days of 1942 you will be worrying about something more lively than the late Mr. Darwin.

U.S. MUNITIONS FOR GERMANY

American: That can't be.

OUR NEW ALLY

The alliance concluded between Britain and Soviet Russia can harm nobody but Hitler and his gang. It may result in incalculable good, not only in the conduct of the war itself but in the period of reconstruction.

Treaties can be broken or forgotten by all nations—as we found to our cost in the case of Vichy France. If the Red armies are unable to withstand the Nazi invaders, and the position of Soviet Russia becomes as desperate as was that of France in June, 1940, no scrap of paper will be sufficient to forestall the otherwise inevitable. But the Anglo-Russian agreement should be of great help in enabling Russia to hold out. If Russia holds out till winter our own task in withstanding Hitler will be tremendously facilitated.

WHAT FACT DOES

The advantages of the pact are many. Among other things it does the following:

1. Says "stay out" to Japan, and hence discourages extension of trouble in the Pacific.
2. Takes first step toward settlement in advance of differences between Soviet Russia and Poland. This obviates chief cause of possible quarrel between Britain and Russia as to terms of peace settlement in eastern Europe.
3. Gives us golden opportunity to tighten the noose strangling the Axis gangsters, particularly in Mediterranean area where our own position was recently desperate.

4. Gives the whole world a chance to see whether or not it is possible for a capitalist-democracy and a communist state to work together with ultimate benefit to all mankind.

PACIFIC FIRST

I have always thought that we could not really get down to business in the winning of the war against Germany until we achieved stability in the Pacific, either by administering a knock-out blow to Japan, or reaching an agreement with her.

Obviously, Japan is still hesitating. If Hitler's forces smash through to Moscow it is possible that on that day the Japanese armies will go all out to grab what they can get of Russia in Asia.

But if Hitler's armies fail to get there—say by August 15—my guess is that the Japanese will be in a more reasonable frame of mind than they have been since 1937. If so, the world picture might be changed overnight for better as a result of peace in China.

COMMUNISM AT CROSSROADS

There are those who so blindly hate and fear Communism that they would far rather come to terms with Hitler than make a sincere effort to arrange the world that Communism and Democracy could live side by side in peace. I am under no illusions as to the real nature of Marxian Communism. It is an extremely strong world-wide organization with a highly efficient professional corps of missionaries in nearly every country in the world. All of these further the program of the central authority. That program is a definite blueprint for world revolution.

It may be that at some time in the future Communism will constitute a threat to our way of life that will have to be fought with every power we possess.

But that is not inevitable. The chief reason why Russian Communism is a potential threat is because every Communist has been taught that sooner or later the Soviet would have to fight for its very existence against the combined attack of the rest of the world.

Have we forgotten the speeches made by our chief army chaplain and Col. George A. Drew in the early months of this war? Those speeches were multiplied 10,000 times over in every country. The Reds are not fools. They have a record of them all.

SURVIVAL OF FITTEST

I have never been one who feared that the Reds could wipe out genuine Christianity in Russia or any place else. What real Christianity could do would be to transform Communism so that it could serve Russia and all mankind with incalculable benefit. If the Christians really believed and worked as the Communists do, that would surely be the outcome.

IF YOU GET HANDED A LEMON NOW YOU WIN

From Cowichan Leader

Indicative of the increased value war has given food in England is a letter from a soldier in which he tells of going to a card social in Scotland at which the first prize was a dozen lemons, the second prize a dozen onions, and the third prize—you would never guess—a silver tea service. On the other hand a second soldier writes to a friend in Duncan that in the eight months he has been in Scotland eggs have come down in price from $1.20 to 60 cents a dozen.

EVOLUTION

Bruce Hutchison now insinuates that I "branded him as the Beast of Revelation." Obscurantism is evil, whether advocated by the Fuehrer or the columnist, but it is utterly untrue to assert that I ever "branded" any man as "The Beast." On the contrary, I recently proved in your paper that, as critical scholars well know, the god Attis alone fills the requirements, and certainly not Hitler.

I am afraid that Hutchison's "column" was unknown to the writer of Revelation. Now Mr. Holdcroft rushes into the breach to repeat the falsehood about Bateson and Loeb which was refuted in your paper a few years ago by myself and others. Bateson and Loeb are now both dead, and both of them were convinced evolutionists. Bateson stated: "The lines of argument converging to support the theory of evolution are so forcible and so many that no alternative can be entertained. The geologic record is conclusive," and Loeb said that evolution was "a self-evident fact."

Their criticism was that "natural selection" needed experimental evidence on one point to complete the chain of scientific proof, and that link has now been supplied, as Haldane has shown.

This shows how misleading it is to quote anyone who is not an eminent living biologist, and the mendacious and ignorant character of fundamentalist publications on the subject.

As Henshaw Ward states in "Evolution": "Bateson's address at Toronto in December, 1921, is a fine illustration of how evolution stands today—it stands unshaken" (Bateson's own phrase) "in scientific opinion, but it is all shot to pieces in the opinion of the newspapers. Because the press had so systematically misled the public, the American Association of Science adopted the following resolution: 'No scientific generalization is more strongly supported by thoroughly tested evidences than is that of organic evolution.'" Why do bibliolatrists suppress these facts, and also the recent unanimous verdicts of the British and American Associations that "evolution is an indisputable scientific law"?

Why do they never quote the Encyclopedia Britannica—"There is not the least doubt as to the fact of evolution. Among those who have gone into the evidence, that is to say, among competent biologists and geologists. There is not a single one who is not convinced that evolution has occurred and is occurring. The evidence is now overwhelming." Because they seek to mislead the public and suppress the truth. The "contrary continues" for that reason alone. Osborn's remark is not applicable to any of the pioneers of evolution, Chambers, Lyell, Hooker, Wallace or Darwin, and even if they had been motivated by the wish to find "a natural cause" in place of the Semitic superstitions which produced the dark ages, myths rightly named by Bishop Gore of Oxford "barbarism," that hope would have rebounded to their honor.

Your correspondent concludes by drawing "the red herring" of them across the trail. With that untrue suggestion that all theists are bibliolatrists and other similarly untenable statements of his that appear elsewhere in the same issue of your paper I will deal in due course.

Mrs. Coley utterly misrepresents my challenge and names six scientists. None of them ever "knocked Darwinism into a cocked hat"; one only, Fleming, aged 92, is now alive, and he is not a biologist. Her list confirms Keith's verdict that those now "studying the evidence of our origin are Darwinists to a man."

Fleming was bowled out by Keith in "Darwinism" (1928), and in "Darwinism and Its Critics" (1935). These "critics" were Fleming and some journalists who knew even less about biology than Fleming. Her statement that "nothing has since been discovered to refute" her five dead men is the reverse of the truth; and she is also plainly unaware that, as Keith points out, "Fleming excludes from the category of specially created things heaven and earth, every herb yielding seed and every living creature—all save man." So Fleming also, on her showing, is among the damned!

Letters to the Editor

THE GREEN LIGHT

Mrs. Altree Coley need not be disappointed just because two letters have appeared in opposition to her ideas of Russia. When one becomes "persecuted and rejected," then it is time to "look up" and not down. When one's ideas of God become unfavorable among men, that is the truest sign of the "Green Light."

DARWIN RECANTED

I believe many of your readers would like to know these interesting facts about Sir Charles Darwin, the author of "The Origin of Species"—the book which caused these pet theories of "evolution."

During his last illness his constant companion was God's gift to man—the Book of Books—and when asked by a bosom friend what book he was reading, replied: "The royal book of the Hebrews." His friend, being surprised at such a reply from this great scholar, asked him about the scientific theory of "evolution." With a look of pain and sadness on his face, he answered: "I never intended such deductions to be taken from my book, 'The Origin of Species.'"

Sir Charles Darwin died an anti-evolutionist, and laid his dying head on the comforting pillows of the precious promises of God. Another won for His crown.

BRUCE AND EVOLUTION

Most pro-Darwins will be surprised at the weak defence made by Bruce Hutchison in his stand against evolution. His attitude places him in line with those who handed the hemlock to Socrates, with those who degraded the great Galileo, and with those who lit the faggots that consumed the flesh of the noble Bruno.

Mr. Hutchison's position on this subject, instead of contributing to the uprooting of superstition and tradition (man's deadly enemies of progress), serves but to strengthen their hold, making the future still more hopeless.

H. G. Wells warns that our civilization is in grave danger of drifting back into the dark ages. Who would have thought that our Bruce could be a conspirator in such a catastrophe? Let us hope that Mr. A. B. Sanders, emulating that other Bruce of old, shall persevere against the modern Bruce until Darwin is understood and appreciated by all your intelligent readers.

MAELSTROM

A correspondent expressed surprise that the pamphlet "Maelstrom," by W. D. Munro of this city, had so far not received comment through letters to the editor, or otherwise. However, a few months on the market is short time for many to have heard of it; besides, so much could be said for and against it, according to the spiritual and mental development of the reader that very likely most would decide to say nothing at all about it through the press at any rate.

It is indeed true that this little piece of writing, by picturing the insanity of our present human world, actually makes order out of its dreadful chaos, and sets our faces in the direction of happiness, with hope in our hearts that here, if not yet, mankind will enjoy liberty, equality and fraternity.

Get "Maelstrom," Mr. Editor,

and read it through carefully. You will like it.

FOR YOUTH PEN FRIENDS

This exchange is a bureau functioning for the purpose of promoting friendly correspondence between students in the U.S. and young people living abroad.

We are at this time engaged in enlisting the support of teachers, students and editors throughout Canada as well as the various British colonies in the western hemisphere for the purpose of bringing together the youth of America, Canada and the British Empire.

Of late we have received hundreds of requests from students and nonstudents, Americans in all walks of life, who are anxious to have pen-friends in Canada and the Empire. It is our hope that the readers of the Victoria Daily Times will aid us in grant of these requests, which are proof of the growing spirit of Anglo-American unity.

May we ask you to urge the readers of the Daily Times to write this exchange by letter or postcard, merely stating name, address and hobbies of interest, and we shall endeavor to distribute the incoming information among the many Americans wishing pen-friends in Canada.

We do feel that these small efforts upon behalf of good will and understanding really accomplish something of value in promoting the unified democratic spirit of our great countries, and towards this goal we sincerely solicit your co-operation.

FORUM FOR WOMEN

Interest is being shown in the proposed Women's Forum for Greater Victoria, sponsored by the Local Council of Women. Aims of this forum are:

1. To stimulate interest in and provide information upon current problems.
2. To afford women an opportunity of learning to express themselves in public, and of contributing their special knowledge for the common benefit.
3. To teach women to practice democracy by giving careful study and an equal hearing to all sides of a question.

Tentative plans include four or five monthly meetings for the season, beginning with October. Some suggested topics are: Sirois report, health services, new Canadians, liquor traffic, peace aims, our civil service, employment and unemployment. National and international finance. Informed speakers will introduce the subject in a panel discussion or symposium and answer questions, after which there will be general discussion. Party politics and all propagandizing will be avoided. All women will be eligible to attend, whether affiliated with the local council or not.

As I have been asked to undertake the organization of this project and wish to meet the desires of the greatest number, I should be glad to have in writing from interested individuals and study groups suggestions or information on such points as:

1. Place and time of meeting.
2. Financing of project.
3. Additional discussion topics.
4. Women's Forums elsewhere.
5. Number in their group who might attend.
6. Names and qualifications as speakers, of possible discussion leaders.

Such a forum should tend not only toward personal development, but also toward development of a useful citizenry. A recent writer has truly said: "If any good at all is to come out of this war, it will be because all through the war, and even before it, there have been those who steadily studied and planned for the peace."

Progressive leaders in all the democratic countries are now recognizing that women should be given an increasing share in solving the problems of the post-war world. This proposed Forum is intended to be a training-ground for those who want to serve efficiently.

Greater Victoria is fortunate in having an unusually large proportion of well-informed and intelligent women. There would seem to be no reason, if the project is entered into with enthusiasm, why this proposed Women's Forum might not be as successful, and perform as high a service for democracy as similar forums have done in other cities of our Dominion.

'Clovelly' Fete Nets $315 for Esquimalt Chapter Fund

With its cooling vistas of shimmering sea, its magnificent old trees, verdant lawns, rose pergolas and masses of flowers, the beautiful garden at "Clovelly," Sea Terrace, Esquimalt, the home of Lady Barnard, made an ideal rendezvous for a large number of guests yesterday afternoon.

The occasion was the garden party arranged by the Mary Croft, Esquimalt, Chapter, I.O.D.E., and many visitors from the United States, took this opportunity of seeing one of Victoria's loveliest gardens. Mrs. C. T. Beard, the regent of the chapter, introduced Mrs. R. O. Alexander, who declared the party open in a graceful little speech, in which she outlined the aims and objects of the I.O.D.E., and wished the chapter every success in its undertaking.

Mrs. Beard, in thanking Mrs. Alexander, also recorded the chapter's gratitude to Lady Barnard for her charming hospitality, and to the 5th (B.C.) Coast Brigade Band for its attractive program of music throughout the afternoon. She explained that the war services monetary grant was available to the I.O.D.E. exclusively for war fund purposes, but that it in no way covered the many calls upon the order's exchequer, by which the peacetime projects such as secondary education, isolated families fund and milk fund must be met.

MRS. HAMBER GUEST

Mrs. E. W. Hamber, who was accompanied by Mrs. Mae Rice, was a special guest and was welcomed by Mrs. Beard and Mrs. E. W. Mackenzie-Grieve. After making a round of the various stalls she was entertained at tea in the house, other special guests in the group including Mrs. Rice, Lady Barnard, Mrs. Beard, Mrs. R. O. Alexander, Mrs. R. H. Pooley, Mrs. E. V. Finlay, Mrs. Reed Paige Clark, Mrs. Sutherland Brown, Mrs. K. C. Symons, Mrs. R. B. McKicking, Mrs. Alex Lockley and Mrs. H. P. Hodges.

Business was brisk at the many stalls, arranged at various vantage points, including home cooking in charge of Mrs. G. Sedger and Mrs. S. Youliden; candy, Mrs. T. C. Sherwood (Esquimalt Brownies); house-keeping, Mrs. J. Quinn; ice cream, Mrs. W. E. Akenhead; Mrs. W. Booth and Mrs. H. Allen, contests; Mrs. S. Angwin, Mrs. Rogers and Miss Mayhew, fortunes; Mrs. A. E. Harris and Mrs. G. H. Cross, in receipt of custom. The total receipts were $315.

Mrs. C. Bishop convened the tea, which was served in the rustic pavilion, where carnations, gladioli and bowls of scabiosa were effectively arranged.

Mrs. De Foe and children left for their home yesterday.

Several out-of-town visitors were guests of honor when Mrs. Durand entertained a few friends at a coffee party yesterday at her home on Carberry Gardens, including Mrs. A. D. Durnford, Montreal, who is visiting her sister, Miss Kate Galt, Pemberton Road; Mrs. Harvey Smith, Winnipeg, who is staying with her sisters, the Misses Muriel and Lena Galt, St. Charles Street, and for Mrs. John R. Totten, New York, who is at the Empress Hotel.

Yesterday evening Mrs. Gordon McIntosh entertained at her home on Dallas Road with a miscellaneous shower in compliment to Miss Flora Jones, who is being feted prior to her marriage to Mr. Darrell Hughes. On her arrival the honored guest was presented with a corsage bouquet of gardenias and the gifts were concealed in pink and white paper chest. Supper was served from a table centred with baby gladioli in shades of pink, flanked with pink tapers in silver holders, and presided over by Mrs. C. A. Jones. Other guests included Mrs. G. T. Hughes, Mrs. J. E. McNeill, Mrs. J. Love, Mrs. R. Couch, Mrs. R. Armstrong, Mrs. H. Rounding, Mrs. H. Simpson, Mrs. J. McKay, Mrs. A. McCaw, Mrs. C. Wharton, Mrs. C. Massick, Mrs. H. Welby, Mrs. M. Couch, Mrs. F. Wilkinson and Mrs. J. Jones, and the Misses Peggy and Cora Wharton, Iris Couch, K. Cuthbertson, Margaret Cuthbertson and Catherine Rounding.

Miss Winnie Conroy and Mr. Douglas Thomas, who are to be married shortly, were the guests of honor at a shower held last evening at the home of Miss Conroy's sister, Mrs. A. O. Lee, Battleford Avenue. On her arrival the bride-to-be received a corsage bouquet of roses and carnations, and in the living-room, which was decorated with sweet peas and carnations, the bride-to-be found awaiting her a knock battletop decorated in Nile green, pink and white, and filled with pretty gifts of linen. A buffet supper was served at the close of the evening. Mrs. P. Conroy presided at the prettily-arranged table, which was centred with a bride's cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, and having a silver basket of pink and white carnations as its background. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Jessiman, Mr. and Mrs. Todd Noble, Capt. and Mrs. I. Carey, Mr. and Mrs. R. Chisholm, Mrs. P. Conroy, Mrs. R. Lally, Misses Kay Conroy, Edna Coates, Kay McKenzie, Pat Lally and Messrs. Wesley Turner, Colton Hagarty and J. Kissinger.

Celebrates 95th Birthday Today

Mrs. Jane Little, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. M. E. MacDonald, 336 Obed Avenue, today is receiving congratulations and good wishes on her 95th birthday on July 17, 1846.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, Jane Hunter Little is a real Canadian, for she was only five years old when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter, embarked in a little sailing vessel for Canada, docking at Montreal nine weeks later.

Their home was at Gananoque, Ontario, where they resided for some 20 years before moving to a country place near Hanover, Ont. In 1878 Mrs. Little met and married William Little, a young Canadian farmer of Gananoque.

Thirty years ago she moved to Edmonton, Alberta. Steadily she has held on her way westward, the way of the sun—Scotland, Ontario, Alberta and now, still with the sun, she is nearing her setting by the shore of the Pacific. She has loved and lived, girl, wife, mother, grandmother, great-grandmother, traversed happily, confidently, determinedly, intelligently, the whole gamut of existence.

The onset of old age is perceptibly, but her mind is vitally young. She reads the papers, reads what is new, follows controversy, follows war and finds everything as interesting to her now as were the huge billows of the Atlantic to the child of 1851.

More wonderful than her intelligence is her spirit. She is not bored nor tired of life. Not yet has she exhausted its possibilities of happiness and interest for her, and she is an inspiration to her family and many friends.

She has two daughters, Mrs. M. E. MacDonald and Mrs. J. Montgomery, both of Victoria; two sons, Thomas N. Little of Waskatenau, Alberta, and William E., who is still at the old farm home at Hanover, Ontario.

Red Cross Notes

Sixty-three dollars was raised for the Red Cross at the garden party held by Columbia Unit at the home of Mrs. Gregg, Tulip Avenue, Wednesday. Miss Fitz-Gibbon opened the affair and urged her listeners the necessity of even greater effort in their output of work.

Girl Guide Bryd Mannix presented Miss Fitz-Gibbon with a bouquet of sweet peas. Other visitors from the Victoria branch were: Brigadier-Gen. J. G. Austin, Mrs. A. J. Dallin, Mrs. W. Barton and Mrs. H. S. Beckton. Tea tables were very attractive under the shade trees in the pretty garden. Mesdames F. Stacey, C. Munro, R. Wilkinson, F. C. Horn, J. O. Little, Miss Milne, with Margaret Hynds, Eileen Durnan, Jessie and Betty Lahmer had charge of the tea, which was greatly appreciated in the heat of the afternoon. The home-cooking stall, with Mesdames Mayfield and T. Whellden, who also dispensed ice cream, was sold out; Mrs. J. McNair Paterson and Mrs. J. C. Cudmore sold fancy goods, superfluities and contests. Mr. Lawrence held the "lucky" tea ticket, four War Savings stamps, which he put up for auction, and it eventually became the property of Miss Taylor. The contests for the fire-screen and the cushion donated by Mrs. H. Wilson were held over. Mr. and Mrs. Huntingdon and Mr. Lawrence were in charge of games. Girl Guides presented an amusing sketch under the leadership of Miss Barrick, and two pupils of Miss Gwen Dewar gave a sword dance and reel.

Mrs. Gregg as hostess and Mrs. E. G. Alcock received the guests. Mrs. C. A. Berry and Mrs. T. W. Hall were responsible for tickets.

ELKS LAY WREATHS AT CENOTAPH

Two hundred Elk conventionists paid tribute to the Unknown Soldier at the Cenotaph last night. The delegates marched from the Elk Hall to the Parliament Building grounds, where grand exalted ruler W. G. King of Biggar, Saskatchewan, and exalted ruler Percy C. Payne of Victoria placed wreaths on the marble steps.

The conventionists were led by the band of the 5th Coast Brigade, R.C.A., under bandmaster C. A. Raines, and a small naval escort.

At the Cenotaph, band sergeant B. Lashmire played the Last Post and Reveille after which all present sang the hymn "Nearer My God to Thee."

The Elks then marched to the Parliament Building steps where they had a convention photograph taken, and from there back to the Elk Hall.

A smoker finished the evening.

Woman to Broadcast To Free French

By GLADYS ARNOLD

OTTAWA (CP)—A picture of Canada's war effort—particularly the part played by Canadians of French origin—will be given to the people of Nazi-dominated France by a news service recently established in Ottawa and Montreal.

Elisabeth de Miribel, former secretary to Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the Free French forces, is directing Service d'Information de la France Libre (Free France Information Service) from the office of G. H. Lash, director of public information.

"Twice a day the German-controlled radio in Paris tries to mislead my countrymen by describing the French Canadians as lukewarm in their war effort, anti-British, inactive and ready to revert," Miss de Miribel told the Canadian Press today.

LOOK TO CANADA

The people of France looked to Canada for hope and inspiration because it was the only free country where French traditions were observed, and the culture of the nation had been preserved.

"We want to get the truth of Canada's war effort to them, for nothing could be more diabolically calculated to shake their confidence than this type of Nazi propaganda, if it goes unanswered," she said.

One project now being developed is the broadcasting of messages to France by Free French and French-Canadian speakers over the facilities of a Boston radio station (WRUL). On July 14, Bastille Day and a French national holiday, Miss de Miribel spoke to her homeland.

Miss de Miribel said the news service she directs has three objectives:

1. To keep the French informed of the activities of the Free
French forces and their Allies.
2. To tell them about Canada's war effort and her air, naval, army and industrial developments.
3. To help stiffen morale and give the French people hope by getting to them the truth about Britain's sincerity and the "unquestioned confidence" they may have in ultimate British victory.

Will Recruit 1,500 Women Soon for Auxiliary Corps

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian
(Active) Army will issue a call
"very shortly" for 1,500 women for its new auxiliary corps, Col. J.
L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, said at a press conference late yesterday.

This call, to be met through the National War Services Department which is in charge of receiving applications from women seeking to enter the corps, will only be a beginning, Col. Ralston said.

In a statement last month he estimated between 2,000 and 3,000 women would be called to the Canadian Women's Army Corps in six months.

Col. Ralston said that Miss Elizabeth Smellie, matron-in-chief of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, has been asked to supervise organization of the Women's Army Corps, and that he hoped to be able to announce appointment of a commandant soon. He said the design of the uniform to be worn by members of C.W.A.C. was practically decided on and would be of khaki color.

THEIR TASKS

The 1,500 women first called to the service in the Auxiliary Army Corps will be engaged in administrative and maintenance tasks, as will their sisters in the auxiliary service of the Royal Canadian Air Force now being organized. The Royal Canadian Navy has not announced plans to form an auxiliary service of women similar to that assisting the Royal Navy.

Col. Ralston said members of the auxiliary to be called shortly will work as ambulance and car drivers, telephone operators, stenographers, dental chair assistants and radiographers assisting in the operation of X-ray apparatus.

Guest Children Now Enjoy Summer Camp Life

OTTAWA (CP)—A year ago the first group of the British guest children brought to Canada under the children's overseas reception board plan were on the high seas. Today every one of them is vacationing at some country spot.

In fact there were more invitations to provide holiday facilities for the children than could be accepted, Mrs. T. M. Snow, British representative for the children's reception scheme in Canada, told the Canadian Press last night.

"Camping, especially in the Canadian 'northwoods' has always been the dream of British youngsters and the 1,532 out here under the scheme are no exception," she said. "They are the envy of every child at home."

Right now there are British guest children in Boy Scout, Girl Guides, Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. camps and "probably every summer camp in the Dominion," Mrs.
Snow said.

U.S. INVITATION

One invitation came from the Maplewood Camp in the white mountains of New Hampshire.
From 40 to 50 children were asked to visit there for July and August, free of charge, but by the time this invitation was received accommodation had been provided for all the guest children in Canada under the government plan.

Biggest headache for Mrs.
Snow's office has come from this general "evacuation" to camp.
When word comes that parents are going to broadcast to their children from Britain it then becomes necessary to locate the children so they may listen in.

"Often they are miles from anywhere thoroughly enjoying the woods and lakes and it is a problem to find them in time," Mrs. Snow said.

SEEK SUMMER JOBS

Many older boys and girls have been begging to take summer season jobs to help out their foster parents. In some cases employment has been found for them. In others the children have found jobs themselves.

Although no children have arrived in Canada since last year under the plan, the organization set up in Britain to handle it is still fully prepared to function if the signal is given. The Atlantic shipping situation, principally the matters of space and the dangers, is responsible for the cut-off.

The waiting list is long and even those who might pay their passages and come to friends constitute a waiting-list of more than 10,000.

CHIEF MATRON E. SMELLIE

The women recruits will be paid "something less" than men in the army, Col. Ralston said.

Until quarters are provided for them, a living allowance will be paid women who join the service.
Arrangements for the construction of accommodation are being made.

Under the organization now established, a pool of women who have passed requirements of the service will be maintained by the National War Services Department and will be drawn on as required by the army.

Chief Matron Elizabeth Smellie of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps nurses has been asked to supervise the organization of the Women's Auxiliary
Army Corps in Canada, Defence Minister Ralston announced yesterday. He said a commandant of the W.A.A.C. would be appointed soon.

LINNELL—GIBSON

At Central Baptist Church last evening, Rev. J. B. Rowell united in marriage Miss Janet Elizabeth Gibson, Victoria, and Mr. John Sydney Linnell, only son of the late Mr. Sydney Linnell and Mrs.
Linnell, 2812 Shakespeare Street.

The church was prettily decorated with summer flowers in pink and blue, and nosegays of flowers marked the guest pews.
Mr. R. Standerwick was at the organ, and during the signing of the register, Mr. Norman Maynard, uncle of the bride, sang
"O Perfect Love."

She was given in marriage by another uncle, Mr. George Brand, and wore a floor-length frock of white lace, with a brief train, short puff sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. Her veil, which reached to the hem of her gown, was attached to a cap of lace with a cluster of orange blossoms on the top, and she carried a shower bouquet of butterfly roses and swainsons.

Miss Joyce Gibson was her sister's bridesmaid, in a frock of heavenly blue lace, styled similarly to that of the bride, and her lace cap was trimmed with a cluster of fresh roses on the top.
She carried a round bouquet of opelia roses and mauve sweet peas. Their little cousin, Lorraine Brand, was flower girl, in a Kate Greenaway frock of pink tulle and a matching Watteau hat trimmed with forget-me-nots, and tied under the chin. She carried a Victorian posy of pink and blue flowers tied with blue ribbon. Mr. Edward Taylor was best man, and the ushers were
Mr. Walter Cutt and Mr. Leonard Thorpe.

The reception was held at the Dominion Hotel, the young couple standing between tall baskets of flowers. They were assisted in welcoming the guests by the bride's sister, Miss Isobel Gibson, in a floor-length jacket frock of dusty pink georgette, and a veiled wide-brimmed hat of queen's blue felt, who wore a corsage bouquet of roses and sweet peas, and by Mrs. Linnell, gowned in blue lace, with a dusty rose hat and a corsage bouquet of rapture roses.
The bride's cake centred the supper table, which was covered with a lace cloth and decorated with vases of rosebuds and lighted white tapers.

For a honeymoon on the mainland the bride left in a blue outfit worn with a grey coat having a wolf collar. Mr. and Mrs. Linnell will make their home in Victoria.

DIETITIANS TELL US...

When food makes your mouth water, it

RAILROADMEN'S wives in Montreal and

U.S. May Seize New Weapon Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reports of a new secret weapon for United States land forces cropped up today in connection with the administration's property seizure bill as Congress pressed ahead two other pieces of emergency legislation — the new $3,504,400,000 tax measure and a sweeping price stabilization proposal.

The army's inability to obtain the right to manufacture the reported secret weapon was said to have been described to the Senate military committee as a pressing reason for quick approval of the property seizure legislation.

Some committee members said they had been informed the War Department was experiencing considerable difficulty in obtaining detailed plans for the weapon, described as a type of gun.

The inventor, the committee-men said, was represented as demanding an extraordinarily large sum before he would make detailed drawings available.

WOULD SEIZE PLANS
Under terms of the proposed legislation these plans could be seized, and a valuation set on them by the President. If the inventor declined to accept this figure, he would be paid 75 per cent of the amount the President fixed, and could appeal to the courts to set a final price.

Discussing price stabilization proposals, majority leader Alben Barkley said identical bills probably would be ready for introduction in both the House and Senate next week, with President Roosevelt sending an accompanying message.

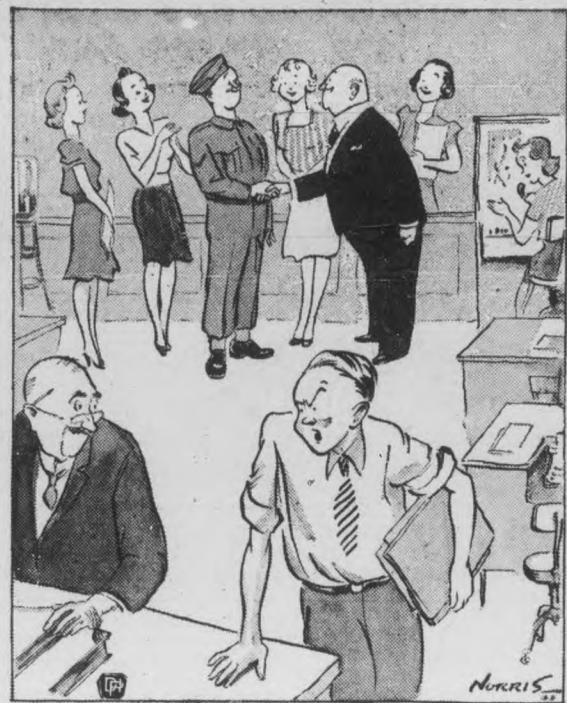

Opposition to any attempt to put ceilings on prices for cotton, wheat, and corn was promised publicly by Senator John Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, a leader in the powerful bipartisan congressional farm bloc.

With the Forces

"Couple of months ago he was just another office boy around here!"

5th Armored Division, Powerful, Self-contained

Thirteen thousand young Canadians and a fast-moving mass of armored equipment will provide a punch to shock Hitler's legions when the 5th (Armored) Canadian Division goes into action, national defence officials in Ottawa said.

Training of the modernized force, which has in its organization men from all parts of the Dominion, is proceeding at Camp Borden, under command of Maj.-Gen. E. W. Sansom, D.S.O. In the measure of equipment, it will be the most powerful fighting unit ever organized in Canada.

"The armored division is often confused with the army tank brigade, units of which are already in the United Kingdom," officials said. "The tank brigade is an armored formation which works with the infantry and is an adjunct or supplement to these forces. The armored division is a self-contained organization prepared to give battle by itself if necessary."

The armored division consists of about 40 units. The main striking strength being contained in armored regiments equipped with powerful cruiser tanks.

Officials said tanks now being produced in Canada and of the latest pattern would probably be used by the armored division, but they recalled the statement of Defence Minister Ralston that when the division went overseas it would be provided with the most modern equipment under arrangements between Canada and the United Kingdom.

CRAFTSMEN

Craftsmen with a wide variety of skills are being trained in the armored division, officials said. Wireless experts, anti-aircraft and instrument mechanics, blacksmiths, tinsmiths, coppersmiths, machinists, plumbers, carpenters, electricians, welders, engine artificers, gun fitters and armorers are all part of the organization.

In movement, the division will maintain contact with its various units by wireless, so that mobility will be given peak efficiency by speed of transmission of messages.

Cruiser tanks will provide the bulk of the shock power but they will be buttressed by other vehicles such as two battalions of motorized infantry which will facilitate any break-through.

The composition of the division was traced by Ralston and officials said it gave a picture of the Canada-wide contribution to the three brigades which compose it.

The first brigade includes the Lord Strathcona's Horse, and the Fort Garry Horse, western units, and the 1st Canadian Cavalry Regiment (Camp Borden, Ont.), all of which are armored regiments, and the Westminster Regiment from British Columbia as a motor battalion.

ESQUIMALT UNITS

The second brigade group includes the 2nd (Toronto), 4th (Sussex, N.B.), and 5th (Esquimalt), Canadian Motorcycle Regiments and the Perth Regiment (Hamilton).

In the third brigade is one infantry regiment, the Cape Breton Highlanders, and with them will be units of the Royal Canadian Artillery and the 41st (Pewaw, Ont.), 47th (Kingston, Ont.), and 87th (Woodstock, N.B., light anti-aircraft batteries).

Officials said training of the division was proceeding speedily, with extensive manoeuvres and tests of the equipment and strategy.

The tank brigade, which trained with United States tanks in Ontario, is formed of three battalions, compared with the massive organization of the armored division. In the tank brigade are battalions made up of the Ontario regiment, the Three Rivers regiment and the Calgary regiment. Nine other detachments or sections of the brigade come from Calgary, Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa and include army service corps, workshops, ordnance, intelligence and signals.

At Camp Nanaimo

NANAIMO (CP) — Col. J. K. Lawson, Ottawa, director of military training, visited Camp Nanaimo yesterday, accompanied by Lt.-Col. A. H. W. Landon of the Pacific Command.

Col. Lawson, who visited the military camp here last September with Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, praised the great development made at the camp since that time.

Will Study in U.S.

OTTAWA (CP) — From 300 to 400 officers and men who will be part of the 5th Canadian (Armored) Division will go to the United States to obtain advance information on certain components of armored fighting vehicles which will come to Canada from the United States, Defence Minister Ralston announced last night.

Bracelet Brings $27,500

LONDON (CP) — A diamond bracelet belonging to the estate of the late Lord Rothermere was sold for $27,500 ($27,500) at an auction. An emerald cut brilliant, weight 23.12 carats, realized $5,900.

Prairie Manoeuvres

GLENBORO, Man. (CP) — Motorized troops from the infantry training centre at Fort Osborne, near Winnipeg, rolled into this southern Manitoba town on schedule yesterday after a 110-mile westward "blitzkrieg" drive — the first leg of the "Pembina River campaign," a five-day training manoeuvre.

Leaving Winnipeg before daylight in a heavy rainfall, the convoy of armored vehicles, manned by 500 steel-helmeted soldiers with full equipment, made the trip within four hours.

Sudden appearance of the steel-clad unit gave this peaceful town an atmosphere of modern war as the troops moved in and drew dinner rations at mechanized field kitchens while Bren gun carriers mounted guard against possible aerial attack.

Charges Employers Bog Down Recruiting

OTTAWA (CP) — Capt. R. J. Brown, Ottawa district recruiting officer, said efforts to obtain recruits in the capital were being "bogged down" in some cases by business firms who refused to co-operate.

Capt. Brown said one firm, with 1,800 employees, has told several employees they will have to resign their positions if they enlist in the active army and that they will lose their insurance benefits.

Caddy Seen Again

Caddy is cavorting around Vancouver Island again. Curtis Hurst, proprietor of the Mill Bay Inn and some of his guests are the latest to see the famous sea serpent.

At 10.30 Tuesday morning Mr. Hurst and his guests saw a wake of water 50 yards from shore, and on looking at it for a few seconds saw the mammal's forepart appear. Mr. Hurst put Caddy's length at about 20 feet and described his head as not unlike that of a camel's. He stayed near the surface for about 2 minutes, swimming in a large circle and thrashing his tail on the water.

CROWDS GATHER TO HEAR CONCERT

Dressed in light summer clothing and relaxing after another scorching day, hundreds of Victorians and tourists gathered around the bandstand at Beacon Hill Park last night to sing and dance at the Cheer-up Concert. It was the third in a series of get-together concerts under the auspices of the Civic Entertainment Committee.

A welcome was extended to all the tourists and Elks in the city by Alderman W. H. Davies.

Waltzes, polkas and oldtime numbers comprised the program with vocal solos rendered by Bill Fletcher, who held the attention of the crowd with "Sweetheart," and Connie Jones with her presentation of the "Hut-sut Song."

Quartettes, representing each of the forces took part in a singing contest. It was the four navy men who received the loudest applause, giving them first place. Second in singing popularity, according to the audience's response, were the soldier singers. The grandstand too had been dressed for the occasion with a new coat of light green paint. Flags of Canada and the United States added to the friendly spirit of the evening.

The number of visitors registering were as follows: New York 1, Pennsylvania 2, Wyoming 2, California 5, Washington 11, Quebec 3, Nova Scotia 3, Newfoundland 1, Manitoba 10, Saskatchewan 11, Alberta 24, Ontario 4, other parts 18—Total 95.

NESTING PIGEONS APPROPRIATED HAT

Bill Elletson, chief clerk of the Empress Hotel, looked out of his window on the sixth floor the other day and saw a man's hat in the gutter.

Saskatchewan Folk Hold Picnic

While youngsters ran races and played softball at the annual Saskatchewan picnic at Mount Douglas Park yesterday, older folk sought out the shady spots to visit with old friends and to recall the days before they came to live in Victoria.

"We're a bit one-sided here but I'm holding my own," laughed Neil Pollock, extreme left in the above picture, a former Regina man who met four ex-residents of Saskatoon under the trees of the park. Next to Mr. Pollock is Arthur Archer and beside him is W. J. Barriskill. A Towler and R. Foster are seated on the right.

He took little notice of it at first, but when the pigeons which nest in the ivy at the roof-top continued to make a rumpus around the lodged headgear, he investigated.

The hat, a green fedora, retrieved with difficulty by the hotel plumber, contained two pigeon eggs.

How the hat got to the sixth

Although Mr. Pollock was outnumbered he got his Saskatoon friends to admit that both cities, Regina and Saskatoon, were about on a par with each other. All five readily agreed that Victoria was the only city now, though.

Dozens of similar groups dotted the park enjoying the outing while renewing old acquaintances.

A few of the picnickers went down to the beach below the park for swimming and sun bathing. Others played shuffle board in the shade and the horse shoe pitch was kept busy also.

story of the hotel is a mystery, for no one could throw a hat that high. The suggestion is made by Elletson that it may have drifted down from a plane and settled in the sloping eavestrough. No guest of the hotel reported the loss of a hat.

Visitors! Look on Page 15— "Tips for Tourists." ***

In the meantime, J. F. Cooper, president of the association was busy announcing over a public address system, races for the youngsters. The races were followed by a softball game and then supper was served. After supper another ball game was played before the outing finished and the picnickers drove back to town in buses and private cars.

Committee in charge consisted of Mr. Cooper, Mrs. H. Stokes, W. R. Ridington, F. G. Greenway, N. B. Pollock, J. F. Neely, C. Hastings, Mrs. F. G. Greenway, Mrs. J. F. Cooper, D. A. Fair and H. Stokes.

Proof that bombing planes can use frozen Arctic lakes to land on was afforded recently when a U.S. Army Flying Fortress carried 600 pounds of dried salmon to Alaskan dog teams on an army trek, and the plane made a wheel landing on glare ice.

Tea Critics Approve

This luxury tea is rich in tradition yet low in price!

At Jonathan's in Exchange Alley, many of London's 17th century business deals were enacted while serving lads rushed about shouting "Black tea, gentlemen! Black tea!"

Now the call is for Canterbury! It's a noble blend. Traditionally fine in quality! Genial in spirit. Rich and luscious in flavor. Its choice leaves, fresh and clean, are picked in their prime. Packed in a protective rigid carton.

And look what you save by using this luxury tea! Canterbury sells for less because of the sensible no-waste manner in which it is delivered, direct from importer to grocer.

On a money-back guarantee, why not compare Canterbury to the tea you now use? Be critical. And if Canterbury fails to suit you in any way, it costs you absolutely nothing!

Where to Stay and Play
On Vancouver Island

By E. L. FORBES

These are the days when friends from far-away places drop in to visit. When strangers through the streets and automobile licenses read much like the names in a travel folder featuring Canada and the United States.

I do not need to tell all these happy vacationists that Victoria is a beautiful city with many interesting places to see. They know that or they would not be here. What I would like to point out is that this city is only the start of a wonderful vacation-land—Vancouver Island. There are any number of beauty spots on the Island Highway between here and the little city of Nanaimo, and from Nanaimo north again to Campbell River, Forbes Landing and the Albernis.

There is the Forbidden Plateau, a natural sanctuary with spell-binding scenery, walled in by a 5,000-foot mountain range and shut off by strange Indian taboos. There is Cathedral Grove, one of the few remaining stands of old-growth timber accessible by car. Here the highway passes directly through a magnificent tract of virgin Douglas fir—mighty monarchs of the forest that were large trees when Columbus discovered America. There is Medicine Bowls Park, where many little waterfalls and a unique formation of bowls carved from the rock by swirling river currents present an unusual scenic effect; Elk Falls and the twin rainbows, one of the island's most famous beauty spots, where the mighty roar of falling waters is all that shatters the quiet and peace of the surrounding forest grove; Seymour Narrows, the narrowest point on the internationally famous inland sea route to Alaska, possibly better known as the home of the mighty Tyee salmon. These, and many other interesting places, offer the visitor a complete itinerary for a perfect holiday.

Accommodation is of the best all over Vancouver Island. De luxe resorts, modern auto camps and up-to-date hotels. Jottings from the notebook as follows:

A choice of 18 cottages at TILlicum SEASIDE CAMP, Yellow Point. Cozy and comfortable. Complete with range, cooking utensils, dishes, beds. In fact, everything but bedding. This furnished, if desired, at very little extra cost.

Up In The Mountains. THE CHALET at Cameron Lake. Comfortable sleeping rooms, delightful meals. Peaceful surroundings here!

Don't Miss The Albernis! RIVER VISTA CAMP offers clean, modern accommodation. Reasonable rates. Right on the Somass River.

Lodge or Family Cottages at SEAGIRT in East Sooke. Comfortable beds with new spring-filled mattresses. Excellent meals. Choice meats, farm produce, Jersey cream.

Like Oysters? Stop off at CHUCK'S OYSTER BAR on the Island Highway, just north of Ladysmith. Oysters, fresh from the sea to your plate. Served as you desire.

Cottages with showers. That's the ticket these hot summer days. RAVINE CAMP at Qualicum Beach has three-roomed modern cottages. Also single cabins. Right on the beach.

At Nanaimo! The MALASPINA HOTEL is tops in accommodation. Good food. Interesting murals of historical events in early British Columbia life on walls of dining-room.

Family suites a feature at QUALICUM BEACH HOTEL. Special attention to large family parties. Table service excellent.

Old Friends return again and again to HARRISON'S PARKS-VILLE BEACH CAMP. It's always popular!

Tea in a Shady Garden! A profusion of old-fashioned flowers. Lilies, delphinium, lupins, lavender. Sounds good these hot days! Drive up to THE ALDER-LEA at Duncan and you may have breakfast, lunch, afternoon

New Waterproof Make-up

Good news for summer sport fans—for aquabellies and sun-worshippers: A new waterproof make-up called Aquacade that permits you to be a mermaid and a glamour girl at the same time! Aquacade make-up will protect your beauty in the water, on the beach, in the sun and in the rain, and is exquisite for evening wear as well. You can dance through a hot summer evening confident that your make-up will stay just as fresh as when it was first applied. Aquacade spells romance, too, for it is "kissproof."

There is a luscious foundation which goes on your skin like velvet, concealing all flaws and blemishes and giving you a peach-s-and-cream complexion that lasts all day.

There is a new Aquacade compressed face powder, soft, fine, flattering, that stays on while swimming or dancing, and is not affected by moisture. Aquacade indelible lipstick completes this new waterproof, kiss-proof make-up. With your Aquacade make-up, be sure to wear waterproof mascara, the perfect complement to an aquatic make-up because it is moisture-resisting, as unaffected by the lake when you swim as by your tears when you are happy or sad. Wear it on the beach or on the street—recommend it for diving, swimming, golfing or dancing—Aquacade make-up is the modern miracle.

Weed seeds, buried deeply, will remain dormant many years and germinate readily if brought close to the surface by cultivation.

All Sooke Day, Next Wednesday

When All Sooke day makes its eighth annual appearance on July 23, those motoring there to participate in the festivities will have the benefit of a good road. Hon. C. S. Leary, minister of Public Works is having alterations on the sooke road completed before next Wednesday.

Lieutenant-Governor E. W. Hamber will not attend the function in person but will be represented by Brigadier Sutherland Brown. For the past few days 50 men have been working on the flats, getting them ready for the sports and salmon barbecue. A public address system will be installed to facilitate announcing.

This year an extra attraction will be provided with the attendance of a military band. The baby show for the Times prizes is already arousing much interest. Other contests, like the ladies' nail driving shown above, will be held. Part of the proceeds will go to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

Royal Reception

The KING AND QUEEN and PRINCESS ELIZABETH held the first reception for heads of the countries allied with Britain.

Among the 200 guests at Buckingham Palace were Queen Wilhelmina and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, King Haakon and Crown Prince Olaf of Norway, King Peter and Queen Mother Marie of Yugoslavia, Eduard Benes, president of the provisional Czechoslovak government; Wladyslaw Raczewicz, president of Poland; and Russian ambassador Ivan Maisky.

'We Are Prepared'

AIR CHIEF MARSHAL SIR ROBERT BROOKE-POPHAM, commander-in-chief of British forces in the Far East, was quoted by Reuters News Agency in a Singapore dispatch as declaring, "We are fully prepared, come what may," when asked to comment on rumors of an impending resumption of Japan's southward expansion.

"We are confident that whatever the British forces in the Far East may be called on to perform we will not be found wanting," he said.

'Pantomime Stage'

The Japanese Minister to Australia, TATSUO KAWI, said in Adelaide the talk of a Japanese "southward drive" had reached the pantomime stage, which was now merely amusing. He said he was tired of hearing about the southward drive and the only drive he knew about was one he used in golf. Kawai added he was doing all in his power to improve friendship and trade between Japan and Australia. There had been pin pricks, he said, but nothing more serious.

'Preserve Capitalism'

HON. R. B. HANSON, Conservative House leader, addressing a luncheon meeting of the Vancouver Canadian Club, warned against subversive elements whose aim was to set labor against industry in Canada.

"I am fearful of subversive influences which have come to Canada from without," Mr. Hanson said, "and whose chief concern seems to be setting of labor against industry."

Mr. Hanson, paying tribute to Canadian labor and industry for the way in which they had met the transition from peace to war, said he was perturbed at recent signs of unrest. It was a situation which demanded the greatest wisdom and judgment.

"By and large Canadian labor is loyal to the core," he said.

Mr. Hanson said only the necessities of national security should be allowed to interfere with the "orderly evolution" of Canadian social and economic life. The government, under war conditions, was forced to invade private rights but to those who obeyed the law during wartime there was no danger.

The Conservative House leader said he believed the capitalistic system, purged of its evils, must be preserved.

"Only private enterprise and private initiative can solve the problems of production, distribution and employment," he said. "Government agencies and government legislative policies will help, but governmental activities can never successfully take the place of private enterprise in providing employment."

Nazis Rule Italians

MAURICE C. BOYD, home after two years in Italy, said in New York a number of minor revolts against the Fascist government have occurred in that country, caused principally over difficulty in obtaining food.

"The country is full of Germans, both in and out of uniform, and the Italians hate the Germans," he said.

"The Italian people do not want the war and they have no spirit for it. There have been some minor revolutions against the Fascist government. There were several in Florence and at least one in Milan last winter, all of which were put down by German soldiers."

Some Performance

Herewith is the police story of strange happenings in San Pedro in the case of CLARENCE HEWITT, 53, laborer, booked on suspicion of drunk driving:

Hewitt struck the rear of J. W. Martin's automobile, but swerved over and kept on going. Martin chased him and forced a halt some blocks away. Hewitt dismounted, waving a wrench and hammer. Martin wrestled these away from him. Fleeing, Hewitt leaped off a nearby cliff.

Hewitt plunged down 60 feet to a slope. Then he rolled down another 50 feet and, uninjured, went to sleep.

Informed at the police station of details of the episode, Hewitt rubbed his head and asked: "Did all that really happen to me?"

No Pay for Beaver

LORD BEAVERBROOK drew no salary or allowances while he was Minister of State, the supplementary estimates showed in London.

The estimates provide $5,000 ($22,250) as salary for Oliver Lyttelton, Minister of State, representing the war cabinet in the Middle East, $8,000 ($35,600) as an expense allowance while abroad and a rent allowance.

'I Hope, I Almost Pray'

LABOR MINISTER ERNEST BEVIN in London on the new Anglo-Russian alliance: "I hope, I almost pray, will lead to closing the black chapter of ostracism and misunderstanding which has gone on since the last war."

He said he hoped a new understanding "might well bring the great United States, us and Russia into a new orientation."

He added it "might be, with our Commonwealth, a great contributing factor, hundreds of years of peace for the world if only we handle it right, with imagination and tolerance, and, equally on their side, the Russians learned that, whatever they have said about us, when the hour of trial came we did not equivocate."

Perfect Marriage Fails

KATHERINE BRUSH'S experiment in the perfect marriage has proved a dud. Word has come from Reno that the novelist, who has turned out many a formula for marriage in fiction, has filed suit for divorce against Hubert Charles Winans, her second husband, charging extreme cruelty. They were married in 1929.

Silent People's Land

ROBERT ST. JOHN, an associated Press foreign correspondent, described in New York some of the scenes of warfare he witnessed in the Balkans and in Greece during which he was wounded by German machine-gun fire.

"Now I am back from the land of silent people," he said. "Those people who crave only to live and let live, but who are constantly being stirred up by ambitious politicians and zealous propagandists. Those people who now live under a shadow that stretches from the Baltic to the Mediteranean. They are all living in a hope that somehow America will find a way to make it a better world for them."

Partial Conscription Would Be Opposed

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta Co-operative Commonwealth Federation Clubs passed a resolution at their annual convention here asserting that "unless wealth, industry and resources are also conscripted, we shall resist conscription of men for overseas service by every legal means at our disposal."

The resolution adds that assurances are wanted the Canadian army is furnished with weapons "at least equal to those of the enemy" and urges that if a referendum is held on conscription of men, "a vote be taken at the same time on complete conscription, including wealth and resources."

'Knocks of Doom'

J. B. PRIESTLEY, author and playwright, has joined the "V" for Victory campaign, Britain's latest propaganda idea to crack the morale of the Nazis by drilling into their minds the thought they cannot win the war.

The author said "V" had become the symbol of Britain's cause because "we needed a simple sign of allied defiance, faith and hope, and found it in the letter 'V' for victory."

The BBC European broadcasts have been telling the people of occupied countries to paint, chalk or pencil the "V" inscriptions on walls and fences wherever they can and to give the "V" sign in sound, by using the Morse code taps for "V"—three dots and a dash—drumming it on tables in restaurants and knocking it on doors.

"Don't make the mistake of thinking this is a little childish thing," Priestley said. "It is supremely important. . . this is not only a war of machines, it is also a war of morale. It is not only a war of planes, but also of propaganda. It is a psychological war."

He expressed the hope "these knocks of doom" would be heard soon day and night by all Germans in all occupied countries.

There is an old English belief that carrying a small potato on your person will ward off rheumatism.

Italians in U.S. Launch Campaign

By PAT McGRADY

NEW YORK (AP)—Alberto Tarchiani, former editor of Milan's newspaper Corriere Della Sera, disclosed today that a group of democratic Italians and Italian-Americans is attempting to supplant ousted Italian consulates throughout the United States and win over Italians to American principles.

"We are established in 50 cities," said the middle-aged writer who quit Italy in 1925 when Fascists took over his newspaper. "Every day we receive more and more appeals for help and advice. We hope that some day soon the American government will lend us active support in our work."

By "we" he meant the Mazzini Society, named after Giuseppe Mazzini, 19th-century Italian patriot who was exiled for his efforts to unify Italy under a republican form of government.

The group was founded by prominent Italian professors and professional people who left Italy after the Fascists came into power. Most of them now are United States citizens.

Since consulates in the U.S. began closing about a month ago, more and more Italians have come to Tarchiani and his colleagues here for help.

"Most of the cases involve Italians who came here illegally," said Tarchiani. "If the men and women have a good character, we help them if they have committed no offence in Italy other than political. If they have not signed under the Alien Registration Act, or if there is anything that makes us feel they will not be a credit to their old country, Italy, and their new country,

America, we tell them we can do nothing for them.

Tarchiani said the group's work was financed by Italian American societies and individuals.

Of the Italian consulates in America, the society said recently in a leaflet, "many were Fascist rather than Italian; i.e., they were propaganda offices, political agencies, spy centres—not instruments of loyal, dutiful aid to compatriots."

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

PEOPLE collect stamps, etchings, prints, antiques of all kinds, match boxes, bottles and what not. We know a fellow who collects uncashable mutual tickets. He has them from old Juarez and Tijuana. But Ralph Kennedy's unusual and violent avocation gives the 63-year-old member of the Winged Foot Golf Club in New York state a powerful argument in any hobby lobby. Kennedy collects golf courses.

Kennedy does not wrap up an 18-hole layout and take it home with him, of course, but he has in a safety deposit box an attested card for each course he has played.

As the traveling representative of a pencil company, Kennedy has made full use of the opportunity to mix pleasure with business. Figures show that in 31 years he has walked 28,000 miles playing 7,200 rounds on 2,141 courses. His collection includes 150 Canadian courses, 14 in South America—and 1,977 of the approximately 5,000 layouts in the United States.

Kennedy achieved his staggering total without visiting the British Isles, so thickly sprinkled with courses that he could clear up while losing no time in hopping from one to another. He was all set for a raid on the famous layouts of the other side when Hitler teed off against the Maginot Line.

Last summer Kennedy swelled his aggregate by playing 77 courses in 27 days while on a "vacation" in New England.

Kennedy considers Pine Valley, carved out of a south New Jersey pine forest, the finest test of golf he has encountered. It rewards a well-hit shot, penalizes a crooked one.

For scenic grandeur, Kennedy recommends the Jasper Park layout in the Canadian Rockies. Eleven tees face individual snow-capped mountain peaks. For marine vistas, he suggests the Bermuda course. For old-fashioned charm, the Ancaster course at Hamilton, Ont., where gaily-colored flower beds separate parallel fairways.

The worst course traversed by Kennedy was a nine-hole layout cut through sagebrush at Riverton, Wyo. A course at Guayaquil, Peru, a sun-baked expanse of brown clay without a tree or bush, was a striking contrast.

Ralph Kennedy's hobby enables him to see the golf course, in good exercise and keeps him in the open air.

New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, leaders in their respective major baseball leagues, each have played more than 1,000,000 spectators with the season only half completed.

Season's record crowd of 60,948 turned out for Lou Gehrig Memorial Day at Yankee Stadium. In four playing days before going on the road, New Yorkers played to daily average of 35,609 at Yankee Stadium.

Turnout of 32,355 for double-header with Boston was top Brooklyn crowd at Ebbets Field. In 37 home games the Dodgers attracted 578,147 fans.

War Relic Surprises

Whips Foxbrough

BOSTON (AP)—Samuel D. Riddle's War Relic, a three-year-old son of Man o'War, surprised his aged owner and most of the 25,000 crowd yesterday by winning the $50,000-added Massachusetts Handicap and clipping a fifth of a second off the Suffolk Downs track record for the 1 1/4 miles.

The upset victor romped home with three-quarters of a length to spare after fighting off William Woodward's favored Foxbrough in a stretch duel which brought him under the wire in 1.48 3/5.

Royal Man from H. A. Clark's Tower Stable finished in the show position, about three lengths in back of Foxbrough and two ahead of Louis Tufanos' Market Wise.

Swing and Sway, from Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree Stable, closed fast and gained the fifth and last slice of New England's largest turf purse, Fene low, other half of Woodward's Belair stud entry, was sixth.

Because of a back ailment, War Relic did not race as a two-year-old, making the first of his 12 starts at Narragansett this spring. Up to yesterday he had earnings of only $4,310. While capturing the $48,350 share of the purse, the Riddle star rewarded his supporters with $23.60, $9.40 and $5.60. The Belair entry, which closed at 2 to 1, returned $3.80 and $2.80, and Royal Man's show price was $4.80.

JOE LOUIS FILES NOTICE OF DEBTS

CHICAGO (AP)—Heavy-weight champion Joe Louis gave public notice yesterday that he was not responsible for debts contracted by anyone but himself.

His attorney, William H. Temple, declined comment on the obvious fact that "anyone" included Joe's wife, Marva, who sued him for divorce July 2 charging cruelty which the champion denied in an answer July 9.

Attorneys explained that such notices are frequently published in divorce cases where questions of alimony or financial settlements are involved.

Temple declared prospects for a reconciliation were remote.

Tillicums Finally Win

Art Chapman Hero

Art Chapman was the golden-haired boy in the camp of the Tillicum ball club last night. It was his single in the seventh inning that scored the winning run in his club's 3 to 2 victory over the Eagles. The decision marked the first victory for the defending champions in the city championship campaign and also ended the Eagles' win streak at four games.

Teams were deadlocked 2 to 2 when the Tillicums took their turn at the plate in the last of the seventh. Mair opened by striking out. Earl Barnswell drew a walk and advanced to second on Robinson's infield out. Eagles decided to issue an intentional pass to Casey to get at Chapman. The latter upset the batter with a clean hit scoring Barnswell with what proved the deciding run.

After having his offerings blasted to all corners of the lot in exhibition games Saturday, Tommy Musgrave returned to the mound for the Tillicums and hurled four-hit ball. He struck out three. After allowing three straight hits for a pair of runs in the first inning Musgrave was always in command. Stan Davies worked for the Eagles and he was in grand form also, after Tillicums had got to him for two runs in the first. Davies allowed 11 hits and fanned eight.

Clubs played bang-up ball last night with only a pair of errors between them while they pulled off four double killings.

Manager Scotty Robinson paced his Tillicums at the plate with three hits in four trips. Charlie Restell got two for three for the Eagles.

Short score follows:

	R.	H.	E.
Eagles	2	4	3
Tillicums	3	11	1
Batteries—Davies and Bridgwood; Musgrave and Kuwabara, Condon.

Yanks Threaten to Make Race Runaway

Clowns Feature Baseball Comedy

It's attraction enough to get a chance to see a fast, hard-hitting and spectacular team like the Ethiopian Clowns perform, but the added comedy and color they flash along with their classy baseball performance makes them a circus worth going miles to see.

And that's what many baseball fans throughout the country have been doing for the past several years, coming from all parts and areas to see the Clowns perform.

The fact that the Clowns are the only traveling team to outdraw the legendary House of David bewhiskered team, as well as all teams of the negro leagues, offers sufficient proof they are the most popular attraction today, outside of organized baseball.

Their stellar play and sideline monkey-shines is a show long to be remembered and talked about. The Miami Ethiopian Clowns in their appearance Saturday, at Athletic Park, against the Victoria All-Stars, will dish out such entertainment as their noted "pepper ball" and "phantom fielding" before they settle down to the more serious business of playing baseball.

Clowns will be seen in action at 2.30 and 6.30.

William Court in Uplands Golf Win

In the match play against par competition at the Uplands Golf Club, W. Court was the winner with a score of 2 up. Vic Paintrier and Russell Ard tied for second place, being all square with par.

On Saturday entries will close for a Calcutta competition. A draw will be made and play may commence on Monday with one week allowed to complete the first round. Competitors will select their own partners.

There will be a twilight mixed foursome on July 23 and competitors will select their own partners and arrange their own starting time. Refreshments and a dance will follow.

Eddie Mayo Draws Year's Suspension

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Eddie Mayo, Los Angeles' slugging third baseman who had hopes of returning to the major leagues, has been suspended one year on the accusation he spat in the face of Umpire Ray Snyder during an argument in a Los Angeles Hollywood game.

Mayo sparked the Angels to the Coast League championship in 1938 and was voted the circuit's most valuable player. He was with New York Giants in 1936 and Boston Braves in 1937 and 1938.

Farmer Sells Shares in Cow

EDMONTON (CP)—Refused a city milk vendor's license, F. Weigalt sold 19 or 20 shares in his two Jersey cows and distributed the milk to the shareholders. It was revealed in police court here when he appeared on a charge of failing to have a milk vendor's license issued by the public utilities commission.

He admitted he didn't have a license from the city or the commission, but stated he "wasn't selling the milk," he was "contributing," when he was questioned by milk inspectors recently.

He explained the shareholders paid $5 or $2 a share and $1 a week for keeping the cows. "Then I gave them whatever milk they wanted."

Evidence revealed Mr. Weigalt applied for a city license in 1936 and had been refused. He said 19 persons owned the two cows, which were kept at his home.

Blast Easy Win Over Cleveland

The latest report on the major league pennant races is that they probably are going to follow the same pattern that everybody was accustomed to until last year.

The powerful New York Yankees are right on the verge of running away from the rest of the American League while the National League is in the throes of another of those push-and-pull struggles that may last right down to the finish in September.

The Yanks blasted out a 10 to 3 victory over Cleveland Indians yesterday in the first tussle of their three-game clash and cleared up most of the doubt about being the best club in the league.

With Joe DiMaggio hitting a double and two singles to stretch his hitting streak to 56 consecutive games, and Charley Keller smashing out a triple and his 20th home run of the year, the Yankees rode rough shod to their eighth triumph in 11 games against the Indians this season and increased their first-place margin to six full games.

On the other hand the Brooklyn Dodgers, who had a chance to bottle up the senior circuit just as completely, were raised 7 to 4 by St. Louis Cardinals and had their lead cut to three games.

The Cardinals' conquest was a deafening explosion for the 32,265 fans at Ebbets Field, because the dodgers made a good start toward humiliating their rivals. In the first four innings Whitlow Wyatt did not allow a hit and his mates raced away to a 4 to 0 lead.

Then Wyatt gave up two runs in the fifth on a double by Enos Slaughter and triple by Martin Marion, and in the sixth he permitted four successive singles before being removed. The Cards went on to score five runs and send 10 players to the plate in a triumphant rally.

New York Giants staved off Cincinnati Reds' threat at third place in the senior tour by whipping Bucky Walters 7 to 4. Gabby Hartnett hit two doubles, one with the bases loaded in the first inning, and Dick Bartell had a perfect day at bat with three singles and batted in three runs.

COAST LEAGUE

Seattle is supposed to be the "cripple" in Coast League baseball now, but the Rainiers still pack a hefty punch.

Despite their impressive injury list, the Rainiers smashed league-leading Sacramento 12 to 6 last night and evened the split-week series. They spotted the Senators four runs in the first inning, then came back and overcame a tied score twice to win going away.

Lloyd Brown checked Sacramento after Ira Schriener weakened in the first frame. The Senators combined five hits and a walk for the four tallies.

Les Scarsella, who was one of the principals on the Seattle casualty list, had a healthy evening at bat, banging out a home run and four singles in five trips to the plate.

The loss slashed Sacramento's lead to nine games over San Diego, which advanced with a narrow 6 to 5 victory over Portland.

Speculation On New Policies

Konoye to Head New Japan Cabinet

TOKYO (AP)—Prince Fumimaro Konoye today received the emperor's command to form a new cabinet to replace that which resigned last night to give way to one more capable of grappling with the "ever-changing world situation."

Konoye, who also headed the retiring cabinet, began assembling a new list of ministers, and authoritative sources said it was expected Emperor Hirohito would be able to install a new government tomorrow.

Among Konoye's first consultations was one with Baron Kichiro Hiranuma, the strongly nationalist home minister in the outgoing cabinet. Observers believed this to indicate that Hiranuma would remain in office, continuing the totalitarian domestic program on which the old government embarked.

For an indication of the direction of the new government's foreign policy observers awaited the choice of a new foreign minister.

ARMED FORCES

Tonight the premier-designate received Gen. Eiki Tojo and Admiral Koshiro Oikawa, war and navy ministers, respectively, in the old cabinet. This was taken to mean they would be asked to continue at their posts, thus assuring the government's relations with the armed services, which have exercised a powerful influence on all its policies, would be unchanged.

Interest centred chiefly around the appointment of a successor to Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, who was instrumental in aligning Japan with the Axis under the Berlin treaty of September 27, 1940, and who personally signed a neutrality pact with Soviet Russia last April 13 at Moscow.

(Japanese circles in Shanghai said today the Tokyo cabinet crisis probably would result in a clarification of Japan's foreign policy, with the government making a definite choice between its commitments to the Axis and the possibility of seeking a rapprochement with Britain and the United States.)

Japanese Deny Pressure

LONDON (CP)—An authoritative source said today inquiry had been made of Japan a month ago and that the British government had received a categorical denial from the Japanese that they are putting pressure on the Vichy government for surrender of naval and air bases in French Indo-China.

This source said the inquiry went to Tokyo after stories of the demands were circulated in Shanghai.

Japanese Recall Discharged Soldiers

SHANGHAI (AP)—Japanese soldiers discharged from the army a year and a half ago after seeing action in China have been called up for service, foreign sources reported today.

A number of reservists in Manchoukuo also have been called up, these sources said.

It further was reported the Japanese government has refused foreigners permission to travel from North China or Manchoukuo by steamship to Kobe. This followed a report that the Japanese port had been closed for a 10-day period starting July 15.

(Kobe is the most likely point of embarkation for any southward Japanese military move.)

Foreigners have been refused permission to go from here to Kobe until after July 24.

The general belief here was that the new cabinet would put into effect decisions already reached, but whether Japan intends to move north against Russian Siberia, south into French Indo-China, Thailand and the Netherlands East Indies, or intends any special move remained a matter of speculation.

Pending appointment of a new Japanese premier, Shanghai sources admitted they were unable to analyze the Tokyo cabinet crisis. They generally agreed, however, that Japan faced two choices of international policy: to continue in the Axis camp or swing toward the British-American bloc.

The reported troop call-up would seem to indicate the former unless it is window-dressing or reinforcement of forces in China.

'Greater Asia' Moves Watched

WASHINGTON (AP)—Intensified efforts to invigorate Japan's plans for a "greater east Asia co-prosperity sphere"—which may put the Japanese army and navy in action—were described in diplomatic quarters here today as a possible result of the impending formation of a new government in Tokyo.

Whether any changes in policy directly affecting the United States also may result was a subject of study at the state department.

It was understood government officials here were surprised by the resignation yesterday of Prince Fumimaro Konoye's year-old government, in view of Japan's badly snarled position in international affairs and the nation's increasingly critical economic situation.

In informed quarters the impression was general that after formation of a new government, which Tokyo said would be more capable of "coping with the ever-changing world situation," some form of expansionist activity might well be expected in line with the policy of trying to establish a "greater east Asia co-prosperity sphere."

This, it was said, was indicated primarily by difficult economic circumstances at home and could shape up as a Japanese push southward against French Indo-China, where economic and strategic prizes might be seized against a minimum of opposition.

French Fortify Indo-China Points

SAIGON, French Indo-China (AP)—A small army of 4,000 Frenchmen and 28,000 natives is quietly fortifying the southern part of this isolated colony whose northern section is under Japanese domination.

Whether they resist any further Japanese inroads, informed quarters say, will depend on whether Britain, the United States and the Netherlands East Indies offer any guarantee of help when the time comes.

(Admiral Jean Decoux, governor-general of French Indo-China, in a statement in connection with apparently increasingly strained relations with Japan, said this week the Japanese had not demanded further concessions in Indo-China.)

Just how fast and plentifully help would have to come was indicated by a high French officer, who described his army as small, poorly equipped and responsible for defending a long coastline with virtually no aid from a naval force of only six light ships.

The army's plans are a big question mark. The army takes its orders from Vichy and keeps mum.

SAILOR INJURED IN 25-FOOT FALL

A fractured left leg and dislocation of the jaw were suffered by W.O.F. Norman McKenzie, sailor, when he fell 25 feet from a window in his home at 1513 Elford Street at 1.08 this morning.

Constables John Howe and Brooke Douglas of the city police department said McKenzie got out of bed in a sleepy condition and fell through a low window.

Mrs. McKenzie said she heard a thud after her husband had got out of bed, and found him on the ground below a broken window. He was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where Dr. L. Pitak examined him, later turning him over to naval doctors. His condition was said to be fair, and he was reported resting comfortably today.

'NO, NO, NANETTE' AT CADET THEATRE

"No, No, Nanette," now at the Cadet Theatre, is one of the most successful stage musicals in the history of the theatre, has been brought to the screen by RKO Radio as a scintillating vehicle for Anna Neagle, who scored such a noteworthy success last year in the film version of "Irene."

Roland Young, Richard Carlson, Victor Mature and Helen Broderick top the distinguished supporting cast in this Herbert Wilcox production.

Cowboy Favorite Star At Rio Theatre

"Colorado," Republic film which is thrilling Rio Theatre audiences, presents Roy Rogers, cowboy favorite, in another fast-action western drama with songs and music aplenty for good measure. The Republic film makes effective use of the highly-dramatic situation of two brothers, widely separated as the poles in temperament and moral code, and pitted against each other to the death.

SOLDIER'S DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Accidental death when struck by some moving vehicle was the verdict of a coroner's jury at McCall's Funeral Home this morning on the death, outside the Coach and Horses beer parlor on Monday night, of Robert Houston Little of Cobble Hill, a soldier attached to the coast defences here.

Fourteen witnesses appeared, of whom only one actually saw the accident, Staff Sergeant William Derbyshire, who testified that while in a car passing the beer parlor at approximately 11 on Monday evening, he had a fleeting glimpse of a man being knocked down at the driveway entrance by a late model coupe, then getting to his feet again.

Other witnesses were in the vicinity of the Coach and Horses at different times during the evening and saw the man while he was alive or in a dying condition after the accident.

Dr. Douglas B. Roxburgh, who conducted the post mortem, said the soldier received a severe laceration of the scalp, multiple superficial bruises of the skin, a ruptured liver and had six ribs fractured. Dr. Reginald Wrice of Work Point barracks said when Little entered the military hospital at 11.02, he was dying and passed away at 11.20.

Chief Henry Pecknold of the Esquimalt police, in connection with the possibility of the deceased being struck by a street car, said that all cars on the Esquimalt route at that time had been examined and no marks were found.

OTTAWA (CP) — A revival of interest in cadet training courses at schools across Canada is anticipated by national defence headquarters for the coming fall and winter school terms.

"All the signs indicate that the youngsters in public and high schools in Canada want to learn all they can about army life," an official in the defence department's directorate of military training said.

"For this reason we've remodelled our cadet instructor courses with just this idea in mind."

A generalized syllabus pointing to increased emphasis on fieldcraft, woodcraft, map-reading, signalling and first aid was prepared by the defence department for use of the three cadet instructor camps now under way in Canada.

Fell Over Cliff

Kenneth Padden, 71, of 11th Avenue, Gordon Head, received a brain concussion, tore the top of his scalp nearly off and severed two muscles in the back of his neck when he fell down a cliff near the Layritz property, which is north of St. Margaret's Bay, yesterday afternoon.

Padden was going swimming when the accident occurred. Dr. J. D. Stenstrom, who was called to the scene, estimated he fell 50 feet, head over heels down a steep bank, and landed on the beach.

It was impossible to remove the injured man at the place where he fell, so a rowboat was used to take him to Mount Douglas Park, from where he was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by the doctor. The doctor attended Padden in the rowboat while he was being taken to the park.

Condition of Padden this morning was reported fair.

Healthy Gains In Tax Payments

Prepayment of taxes continued ahead of last year's record figures this month, according to totals compiled today by the city assessor-collector's department.

At July 16, collections of current taxes, not actually due until October, stood $18,494 ahead of those for the similar period last year, the respective totals being $810,878 against $792,384.

In the arrears division a healthy increase was also shown. Up to the same date this year payments amounted to $106,377, a figure $2,921 above last year, when the collections were $103,456 at July 16.

In both instances the total amount payable for the whole of 1941 is less than for 1940, a reduction in the mill rate and the assessment having lowered the current levy and a smaller amount outstanding having reduced the possible payment of arrears.

New Companies

Seven new British Columbia companies were incorporated during the last week, as follows: Royal City Hotel Ltd., $10,000, Vancouver; Maypole Creameries Ltd., $10,000, Vancouver; Acme Motors (Duncan) Ltd., $20,000, Duncan; Gordon Powell and Co. Ltd., $20,000, Vancouver; Robert Henry and Son Ltd., $20,000, Vancouver; Coast Roofing Co. Ltd., $10,000, Vancouver; Grant-Tile Manufacturing Co. Ltd., 100 shares, Vancouver.

The East Asiatic Co. (B.C.) Ltd., Montreal and Vancouver was incorporated as an extra-provincial company.

Seven motorists were each fined $2.50 in City Police Court today on parking charges.

Coast Area Closed

Foresters Pray For Heat Relief

With a closure order clamped down on the big forests and logging operations of the lower coast area today British Columbia forest experts were praying for major relief from the heat wave to forestall a major conflagration in the woods.

"There is nothing definite in sight yet," said George P. Melrose, assistant chief forester, "but we will lift the closure as soon as it is safe."

The closure went into effect at midnight after four days of record-breaking heat had turned forest areas into tinder-boxes.

COVERS LARGE AREA

Under its terms all logging operations were closed down over an area extending along the east coast of Vancouver Island from Squash, near Port Hardy, south, and on the west coast south of Barclay Sound. On the mainland coast the closure applies south of Kingcome Inlet.

In the same area travel in the woods is not permitted, except by people going along main highways. All campfire permits were canceled temporarily.

In Vancouver the district forester's office reported that the humidity had risen, but that it had little effect on the extreme forest fire hazard with continued high temperatures and fairly brisk winds.

Reports from two fires burning on Vancouver Island had not been received here today, but forestry officials said the situation apparently was unchanged. No new fires were reported.

One of the fires, in the Great Central Lake district, is being held under control while firefighters battling parts of the other blaze at Palmer Bay, on the east coast of the island, have kept the flames from damaging logging railways and bridges.

DIES OF INJURY SUSTAINED IN MAY

He was born in Winnipeg, Man., and had been a resident of Victoria for eight years and enlisted with the R.C.O.C. last year. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dempster, 508 Constance Avenue; three sisters, Mrs. F. West-Smith, Aberdeen, Scotland; Mrs. C. Chaiiffa, of Aldergrove, B.C.; and Mrs. C. Fallas, Victoria, and one brother, Edward, Victoria. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Sloan Named Commissioner

Workmen's Compensation Inquiry Announced

The appointment of Mr. Justice Gordon McG. Sloan of the Court of Appeal as sole commissioner to make an investigation into the administrative policy of the Workmen's Compensation Board and the operation of the Workmen's Compensation Act was announced today by Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor.

(The inquiry was foreshadowed last week by the Times. It was pledged by the government at the last session of the Legislature.)

Mr. Pearson said the inquiry will get under way early in August with hearings in Victoria, Vancouver and probably in the interior, to be arranged by the commissioner.

Barry Gault of the labor department will be appointed secretary to the commissioner. Counsel will be chosen shortly to assist the commissioner in marshalling evidence.

The probe is under the Public Inquiries Act and terms of the commission are wide enough to take in all phases of the working of the scheme, Mr. Pearson said. They do not provide for readjustment of any individual cases. Such cases may be studied, however, in the light of the way they reflect general principles.

The formal order covers the following points:

(1) The administrative policy of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

(2) Proposed amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act.

(3) Questions of law and fact which may be submitted to the commissioner by the government.

(4) Other facts which the commissioner may think necessary for the investigation.

All groups interested in the operation of the act will have an opportunity to present their views in person.

The minister said the inquiry was to meet complaints that have been made from time to time that the compensation scheme works injustices on some groups and that the board's decisions are not always in accordance with the spirit of the act.

An ice manufacturing firm could not keep up with deliveries of ice yesterday.

"Sorry, we can't deliver, but if you come to the plant you can have all you want," they told heat-made customers. Regular customers found their ice delivered as usual. It is estimated Victorians bought 80 tons of ice yesterday, an all-time record. Sometimes as many as 25 cars were lined up outside the ice plant, perspiring men and women loading great blocks of ice into the backs of their cars.

"We've never been so rushed in our life," said an ice cream company. "It seems everybody in Victoria ate at least a quart of ice cream yesterday. We've been supplying orders, but not as much as the stores ask. Several of them ran out. It was largely a matter of delivery."

The only people who really had time to take a bit easier were the butchers and fuel dealers. In hot weather consumption of raw meats drops by nearly 50 per cent. No one thought at all of coal and wood.

Pressure Aided By Water Rules

Restricted use of water for sprinkling and gardening purposes in Greater Victoria appeared today to have remedied pressure problems in the city and adjoining municipalities, but Saanich anticipated trouble for the Gordon Head area again in the evening when the restrictions are relaxed.

"Everybody in Gordon Head can get water right now, but Lord help them after 7 tonight," H. H. Allen, municipal engineer stated. In the evening gardeners in Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt may resume their watering. The load reduces pressure, and the engineer feared it would be insufficient to supply Gordon Head under those circumstances.

Water may not be used for gardens or lawns in the city and Esquimalt from 9 in the morning until 8 in the evening, in Saanich from 9 in the morning to 7 in the evening, and in Oak Bay from 8 in the morning to noon and from 4 in the afternoon to 9 in the evening.

PRESSURE RESTORED

"During the hours in which watering is prevented, the pressure in the city is as good as it was three or four months ago," Ernie Macdonald, city water superintendent, said. After 8 in the evening pressure dropped again, but it rose sharply at 9 in the morning, he said.

There was no cause for concern over the supply, he added, noting that when the equipment required on the Goldstream line was secured conditions would be restored to normal.

He attributed the difficulty of certain sections of Saanich, particularly Gordon Head, to the position of that municipality's booster pump. If Saanich pumps were lower they would get lots of water, he said.

Mr. Allen of Saanich held different views. He saw construction of a reservoir in the municipality as the only satisfactory remedy.

Oak Bay reported conditions generally satisfactory, but stated certain parts of the Uplands and the upper reaches of Fairfield Road had experienced further trouble between 9 and 10 at night when gardeners swung into action.

Conditions in Esquimalt were said to be about the same as those in the city proper.

Mayor Andrew McGavin, who wired today to Vancouver in an effort to speed delivery of parts needed to restore the Goldstream line to full use, declined to comment on remarks by Mr. Allen.

FORBES-KING — Rev. F. W. McKinnon conducted the funeral of Mrs. Mary Forbes-King yesterday afternoon in Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. The remains were laid at rest at Royal Oak.

HILL — George S. Hill of 740 Johnson Street, died yesterday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital. He had been a resident of this city for many years, and is survived by one son, George F. Hill, at Dawson, and one daughter, Marie Elizabeth. The remains are resting at the Sands Mortuary, pending funeral arrangements.

LITTLE — Military funeral will be held from McCall Bros' Funeral Home tomorrow afternoon at 2 for Gunner Robert Houston Little. Interment in the Military Cemetery, Esquimalt.

KENDALL — Montague Charles Kendall, 67, died this morning in the Royal Jubilee Hospital. He was born in Surrey, England, and lived for many years in Penticton, B.C., before coming to Victoria. For over 40 years he had been in the real estate and insurance business. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

over the alleged shortage of water to supply Saanich. Mr. Allen was quoted as saying: "This shortage will point out to the people of Saanich that Mayor McGavin's statement to the Saanich Council that there was plenty of water in the city mains was not correct."

The hospitality committee of the auxiliary services has arranged another picnic outing for the troops this week-end. Men from Macaulay Point will be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Preparing Ersatz Olive Branch?

Nazi Peace Offensive Will Be Rebuffed

By the Canadian Press

Has Hitler a peace offer up his sleeve, ready to bring it forth in the immediate future in the hope he can tie it up with his anti-Communist campaign?

A good many people think he has, including President Roosevelt.

RIBBENTROP BUSY

In London the Press Association said it inferred from current conferences of German Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop that Hitler is preparing a peace offer in the west so that he might be free for the Russian war.

Ribbentrop, the Press Association said, has been conferring lately with German ambassadors to several western European countries.

Just what the Nazi leaders have in mind is unknown at the moment, but it should not be surprising if terms, attractive on the surface, were advanced in the hope that anti-Communist forces throughout the world would rally to some German catch-phrase such as "saving the world from Bolshevism."

Mayor LaGuardia of New York a couple of days ago told the people to expect a proposal from Hitler. Today two high officials in Washington, Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles and Stephen Early, President Roosevelt's press secretary, backed up the mayor's warning to be on guard against phoney offers, although both men made it clear no official proposals had been made to the American government.

COLD RECEPTION

President Roosevelt, in asserting in Washington that persons in Europe and the Far East were planting peace ideas among well-meaning Americans, apparently was preparing a cool reception for any spectacular peace proposal from Hitler.

The President said that almost every week some well-meaning person rushes to Washington with words that persons abroad have told them that it would be a perfectly grand thing if peace could be worked out.

In some cases it appears, he said, that the peace plans have been planted with them. The planting has been done, he said, by persons who are fairly high up in foreign countries, although they do not actually hold government positions.

This has occurred, he said, at the dance of the year! All Sooke Day, Community Hall, July 23. Bert Zala's orchestra; 50c.

OUT OUR WAY

Belgian and Two Scotsmen Were Gas Light Pioneers

If a piece of soft coal is placed in a clay jar with a small opening, and if the clay jar is heated enough, gas will come out of the opening.

That fact was learned more than 200 years ago. We do not have a record of who found out about it first, but a book printed in 1727 describes it.

Above we see first house Murdock lighted with gas

When the book was written, some persons also knew that the gas from coal would give light if set afire. This knowledge was not put to work, however, at that time.

A professor in a school at Louvain, Belgium, seems to have been first to use gas for lighting. His name was Jan Minckelers, and he fitted up a gas light for his classroom in the year 1785.

Two years later Lord Archibald Duncanson lighted a part of his home with coal gas. This Scottish noble has had little honor, but he gave all the money he had in the world to push forward his work in science.

Another Scotsman, William Murdoch, took up the idea several years later. He was a clever fellow who had spent years in Birmingham working on the steam engines of James Watt. These engines were made for sale at the factory of Boulton and Watt. Murdoch found ways to improve them.

Later he was sent to Cornwall, in southern England, to take charge of the building of steam engines for mines. While on this task, he found time to make a model of a high-pressure steam engine which would run on wheels.

The salary of this young man was about $4 a week in our money, but he let the years go by without asking for a "raise." His mind was filled with ideas. One of his ideas was to light homes and factories with coal gas.

In 1792, when he was 38 years of age, he set up gas lights in the house where he lived at Redruth, Cornwall. He also lighted his office with gas.

Six years later he returned to Birmingham as manager of the Boulton and Watt factory. There he was given a sudden increase of salary, the amount being close to $100 per week.

Gas lights were placed in the factory at Birmingham. Later Murdoch put in a gas lighting system with 1,000 burners in mills at Salford, England.

JULY 18

Benefic aspects rule today. The Sun - Neptune sextile should prove stimulating and increase self-confidence. A congenial atmosphere should prevail among workers, who will accomplish a great deal at this time. Women should be successful in exploiting domestic talents for profit. Both men and women should avoid making promises which may later be difficult to fulfill.

Astrologers declare that confusion and difficulties which have arisen within the Russian government will be smoothed out as the month wears on. Actions of the Russian leaders are particularly favored.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of few changes. Children born on this day may be temperamental and extravagant.

LANGFORD

Mr. G. R. King of Edmonton, now residing in the district, was welcomed as a new member at a meeting of St. Matthew's Guild held at "Holmwood" Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. H. A. Hincks presided. Arrangements were made to hold a bag contest, work, home cooking stalls and many other attractions at the annual fete at Langford Lodge on Wednesday, August 6.

The July meeting of the Langford Women's Institute members will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cave, Bagshot Lodge, on Langford Lake, Tuesday at 2.30.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a law student, 22 years old, very much in love with a girl and we plan to marry next winter. However, I am sure that I will be drafted in the army before that time, and we do not know what to do about getting married. If we marry now, she must give up her job, which is in a very specialized line, and it would be hard for her to find another. So she would have to live with my parents who do not like her. She would have no other means of support. We have already postponed our marriage for three years so I could finish law school and we do not wish to wait any longer. Please advise us what to do.

Answer: There is an old adage which says: "Needs be when the devil drives," and that is your case now. Hard as it is for you to put off your marriage again when you have looked forward to it for so long, you must see yourself that it is the only thing you can do in the case.

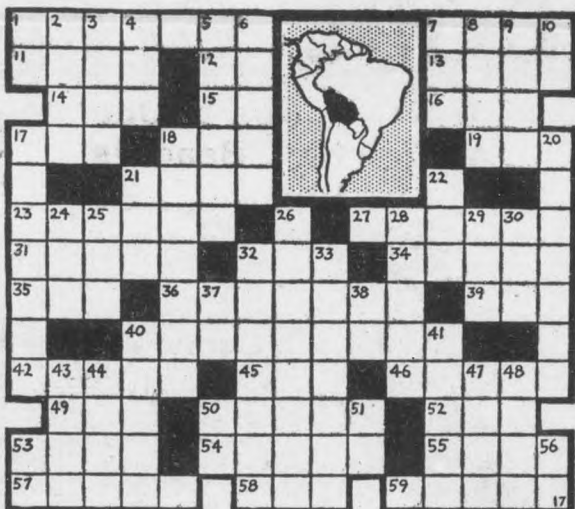

For your wife to go to live with your parents when they dislike her and resent your marrying her would create an intolerable situation for them and for her, and foster an enmity that would cast a shadow on your marriage as long as you live.

Don't make such a disastrous mistake. Don't befool yourself into thinking that because all of them love you they will love each other. Just the contrary will be the case because they will be jealous of each other, and you will be kept on a strain trying to hold the scales even and to show no favors to either side.

As for your thinking that if you do not marry before you go to service in the army one or the other will be unfaithful, forget it. If your love is not strong enough to stand a little separation, it is not worth having.

DOROTHY DIX.
